Twisters Rake Ohio; 2 Dead, 50 Injured

KETTERING, Ohio (AP) — Deadly tornadoes struck across Ohio Thursday night, killing two persons, injuring perhaps 50, leaving 400 homeless and causing millions of dollars in damage.

Gov. James A. Rhodes sent 200 National Guard troops into this Dayton suburb in western Ohio to assist the injured and homeless and to protect their property.

Rhodes flew here for a two-hour inspection. He said parts of Kettering and a residential area in adjacent Greene County may qualify as a disaster area. A 14-building apartment complex was heavily damaged by the storm, 10 houses here were destroyed and about 90 heavily damaged.

Twenty-five persons sought treatment for minor injuries but no serious injuries were reported.

Bad weather prevented Rhodes from personally inspecting a storm-hit area at Tappan Lake, 175 miles to the east where one woman was killed.

His plane flew over Tappan Lake where a dozen houses were smashed but fog and poor visibility prevented it from landing.

Mrs. Harry Fogle, 42, died when the storm destroyed her house near the lake. Her husband and their four children were among 14 persons taken to Twin City Hospital at Dennison for treatment.

Two of Fogle's daughters, Carson 17, and Hollis, 13, were among six persons admitted to the hospital. Both girls were in guarded condition.

Others admitted were Mrs. Robert Weyand, 22; Mrs. Ralph

Pocock, 59; Parker Eichel, 62, and Teresa Dempster, 15, all of the Tappan Lake area.

Another storm related death occurred at Pataskala, near Columbus. Jefferson D. Miller, 20, Alexandria, was killed when a tree, split either by lightning or wind, fell on top of his car along a county road.

The tornado struck Kettering during the late afternoon rush hour. It cut a path 150 yards wide and three miles long through a residential area in Kettering and adjacent Greene County.

Thirty houses were demolished and an estimated 185 others damaged, as were an apartment building complex and a nursing home.

No deaths or serious injuries occurred here, although 25 persons were treated at Kettering Memorial Hospital for cuts and bruises. None were admitted.

Mayor Robert J. Haverstick of Kettering flew over the area in a helicopter and estimated damage "in millions of dollars."

Police Chief John Shryock said 300 to 400 persons were left homeless by the storm.

Fairmont East High School was converted into a shelter for the homeless, but officials said few were using the facility, apparently taking refuge with friends and relatives.

At Kettering, about 200 National Guard troops called up by Rhodes patrolled the damaged areas. The troops were requested by local officials who feared looting as hundreds of sightseers poured into the area.

Hit hardest was a four-block-square area around the apartment complex. Chief Shryock said some 20 homes in that section were demolished.

The Red Cross set up a disaster center in a shopping center nearby.

Electricity and gas mains in a 20-block area were shut off and the Dayton Power and Light Co. said 100-150 men were working in the area through the night.

In addition, State Highway Patrolmen, local civil defense people, highway department workers and 75-100 policemen, firemen and rescue workers were on the scene.

Among the evacuees were the residents of 12 of the apartment complex's 14 buildings. About 20 of the residents were treated for cuts and other minor injuries.

Ernest Eckelman, property management director for owners of the apartments, could not estimate damage to the $2 million project, but he said it was insured.

Also hit by the tornado was the Crestview Nursing home, where the kitchen was destroyed and part of the roof was carried away. However, none of the homes' 75 elderly residents were injured.

True ABM Cost Over $13 Billion, Study Indicates

WASHINGTON (AP) — A private study indicates the Safeguard antimissile system's ultimate cost may top $13 billion—66 per cent more than official estimates.

Disclosure of the study Thursday prompted immediate assertions, notably by Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., that the maneuvering over Safeguard "has created a credibility gap for the Nixon administration."

The study, by the Defense Marketing Survey, a McGraw-Hill Service for industrial firms, estimated the cost of Safeguard between 1969 and 1975 at more than $11 billion.

The study did not include $1.2 billion to be spent by the Atomic Energy Commission on nuclear warheads and its cost estimates for Safeguard's radar and Sprint missiles were more than $1 billion less than calculated by other experts.

Critics were quick to point out that adding in these figures would bring the total to more than $13 billion, compared with the current official administration estimate of $7.8 billion.

"In a program as complex as Safeguard," the study concluded, "historical experience indicates cost in the long run are likely to be considerably higher."

Sen. McGovern, a leading critic of Safeguard, said "It has not reached the stage yet of the Johnson administration's credibility gap on Vietnam, but it's reaching toward it."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who has been speaking in favor of Safeguard around the country, told Republican governors in Lexington, Ky., last week: "The decision is in your interest as governors—if for no other reason than it is less expensive than the Sentinel system proposed by the previous administration."

If the $13 billion-plus figure is correct, it would put Safeguard costs nearly 50 per cent higher than the $9.4 billion estimated by some Capitol Hill experts as the real cost of the Johnson's Sentinel antimissile system, officially pegged at $5.8 billion.

Defense officials, in appearances before congressional committees, have repeatedly used a $6.6 billion figure as the cost of deploying Safeguard.

But last Monday, the Pentagon, in response to queries, said this failed to include the $1.2 billion for warheads which is carried in the budget of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Labor Party Takes Beating 'n Britain

LONDON (AP) — The Conservatives reigned supreme in town halls across Britain today after routing Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Laborites in local elections for the third straight year.

The balloting Thursday did not reduce Wilson's 71-seat majority in the House of Commons. But more than 600 Labor party workers were thrown out of local offices, and the party's chances in the national elections Wilson must call within the next two years looked dimmer than ever.

The voting left Labor in control of only 25 of the 369 town councils in England and Wales. The Laborites hold none of the major cities.

Greater damage was done last year when Labor lost London and other town halls that had not known a Tory mayor for generations. This time Labor lost control of 13 towns, won back one and saw its minority dwindle everywhere else. There was no voting in London boroughs this time.

Wilson's forces lost a total of 637 town council seats in England and Wales and 18 in Scotland. The Conservatives won 630 new seats and gained controls of 17 more town councils.

The Labor losses had been expected. Public opinion polls continually show the resentment of voters against the government that devalued the pound in 1967, raised taxes and put on other unpopular austerity measures, yet still has not solved the nation's economic problems. The party was done still more damage by the announcement just before the election of increases in the prices of eggs, glass and false teeth supplied by the National Health Service.

Ironically, Wilson's position as party chief appeared strengthened despite the election defeat. His Cabinet agreed Thursday that Wilson must stay as prime minister and informed the party of this decision. This quashed for the moment agitation by a group of Labor MPs who want Wilson replaced. The plotters were left without a serious alternate.

There's nothing more to say," Ahlers told newsmen as Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger presided at a conference between other leaders of his Christian Democratic party and their partners in the government coalition, Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democrats.

Later in the day Kiesinger was to confer with Economics Minister Karl Schiller, Finance Minister Franz Josef Strauss, and Karl Blessing, the president of the Bundesbank, West Germany's central bank.

Schiller has been urging that the official value of the mark be increased, but Kiesinger was reported opposed to any revaluation except as part of a general revision of currency valuations. A government spokesman said Schiller had written the chancellor some time ago that there presently is no possibility of such a "multilateral solution to the currency problem."

Dollar selling increased in hectic dealing on the Frankfurt market today, and the Bundesbank announced it had stopped direct dealing in the U.S. currency with foreign banks. Its purpose was to increase the cost of marks for speculators buying up German currency in hopes of a revaluation and a quick profit.

The action forces foreign banks to buy marks from West German commercial banks, which are not committed to maintain the official rate of 3.97 marks to the dollar, the floor rate at which the Bundesbank is obligated to buy all dollars offered.

The graduation ceremonies will be staged, weather permitting, in the football stadium.

Saigon Rejects VC Peace Plan Car Insurance Cancellations Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio legislators are showing more than a passing interest in doing something about insurance companies that cancel auto policies without giving any reasons.

"Many Ohioans have been surprised to receive notification from their insurance company that their policy is being canceled effective immediately," Sen. Robert J. Cortis, R-13 Elyria, said Thursday.

Cortis was one sponsor of a Senate bill introduced Thursday to allow policies to be canceled only if a holder has lost his driver's license, not paid his premium or misrepresented the facts concerning risk.

An identical bill was introduced in the House. Both had bipartisan sponsorship.

Cortis said in many cases policy holders getting cancellations are long standing customers of the company.

"Often no adequate cause exists for this action, and the public has demanded that action be taken to control this situation," Cortis said.

The bills require auto insurance policies to be written for not less than five years and be renewable for the same period. If there is a just cause for cancellation, the policy holder must be informed by a written notice giving specific reasons for the action. A cancellation could not take effect sooner than 30 days after the notice.

The bills give insurance companies immunity from prosecution if policy holders consider their reasons inaccurate or libelous.

Dean McAfee of the Ohio Insurance Institute said most insurance companies operating in Ohio already have agreed on a voluntary basis to restrict cancellations to the three reasons included in the bill.

He said the institute will take no position on the bill, adding he feels there will be "divided opinion" among insurance companies.

"There will not be so much reluctance since the bill contains an immunity clause," McAfee said. "The bill tends to bring into statutory law what the industry has voluntarily been doing the last six months or so."

Identical bills to regulate cancellation practices of companies selling fire insurance also were introduced in both Houses. They would require companies to give 60 days written notice of cancellation or refusal to renew and specific reasons for doing so.

Finch Raps 'Meat-Ax' Cuts Of College Aid As Harmful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch, denying he is at odds with other top administration officials, says cutting off federal funds to schools caught up in campus disorders is a "meat-ax approach" that penalizes innocent students.

Campus eruptions are a "phenomenon and not a conspiracy," Finch said Thursday. "To cut off funds just hurts a great many, and 99 per cent of the students we are talking about here want an education. They are the ones who suffer when you take this meat-ax approach."

Finch's comments, at a news conference following the swearing in of Dr. James Allen as assistant secretary for education, appeared to conflict with statements last week by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, both of whom called for tough action against student violence.

But, said Finch, "There is no division of opinion. There is no royal battle going on with respect to hard or soft line."

Agnew told a news conference in Lexington, Ky., last week that Congress had a right to cut off funds to schools and students when the actions of any of them "went beyond the limits of permissibility."

A day later Mitchell and two top aides used the forums of Law Day appearances to take what seemed to be a hard line on campus unrest.

Declaring "the time has come for an end to patience," Mitchell called on university officials and police to start arresting and prosecuting the "professional militants" he said were behind campus disorders.

This pronouncement and the others were widely interpreted as a turnaround from the official administration position set down by Finch in March.

Finch, a confidant of President Nixon, spelled out his position in letters to the presidents of all the nation's colleges and universities. He called for enforcement of the law while making sure "the right of legitimate and responsible dissent is fully protected."

West Irian Natives Revolt

DJAYAPURA, West Irian (AP) — Some 30,000 primitive tribesmen have taken to the jungle in the Enarotali region of West Irian to wage a guerrilla war against Indonesian paratroopers.

Unconfirmed reports said that about 15 Indonesian soldiers have been killed in the sporadic fighting that broke out around May 1.

The 400 paratroopers were dropped around Enarotali, in the central highlands, after the tribesmen damaged the airstrip to prevent planes from landing. It appeared today that the tribesmen have recaptured the airstrip and the town, relieving a small garrison of troops that had been cut off.

The uprising was part of a series of demonstrations May 1 against the procedure worked out by the Indonesian government to determine in July whether the western half of the island of New Guinea will become the independent state of Papua or remain the Indonesian province of West Irian.

The rebellious tribesmen raised flags of the Free Papua movement and ordered Indonesian officials and teachers out of the Enarotali area. Free Papua flags also were hoisted in Blak and other towns.

The Papuans claim the Indonesian government is trying to rig the plebiscite, known as the "act of free choice." The inland tribes are angry because advisory boards chosen by the government will vote for them while a popular referendum will be held in the more advanced coastal lowlands.

In a broadcast from a missionary radio station in the Enarotali area, the tribesmen demanded that Indonesian troops be withdrawn and said: "We do not want pressure from outside for the act of free choice."

A Dutch missionary who knows the territory said: "The tribes did not want bloodshed only the withdrawal of the troops. But the shooting broke out after a plane landed with troops despite warning from the chiefs not to do so."

Harsha Bill Blocks Funds To Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William H. Harsha, Ohio's 6th District Republican congressman, continued his attack today on academic administrators who fail to halt campus disorders.

Harsha has introduced a bill requiring that all federal funds be frozen at any institution where order has not been restored, and that any federal subsidies or payment be withheld from any teacher or lecturer found guilty of violating any law in connection with campus disorder.

He testified for his bill earlier in the week before the Special House Subcommittee on Education.

In his weekly report to citizens in his district Harsha said that "in five incredible years, we have seen student dissidence and protest escalate from marches, sit-ins and teach-ins to sieges, sackings and pillaging." He added:

"It is an approach to the tragic that, in the main, the nation's academic administrators have demonstrated a lack of backbone with which to properly meet these responsibilities; nor, in the main, do they suggest appreciation of what their failures have meant to the academic community and the nation as a whole."

"Worse, there is little suggestion that they intend to remedy this attitude, this condition, which, today, so severely concerns the American people and their representatives in Congress."

Israeli Forces Take Action Against Arab Guerrillas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Israel stepped up operations against Arab guerrillas in Jordan with a ground raid and two air strikes within 36 hours.

Israeli commandos dashed 1 1/2 miles beyond the Jordan River Thursday night in the first such raid of the year and blew up houses of Arab guerrillas at Wadi Jabbat, a military spokesman in Tel Aviv said.

There were no Israeli casualties, the spokesman added.

Earlier Thursday, Israeli jet fighters bombed and strafed Bir El Harir, an Arab guerrilla camp in southern Jordan 20 miles south of the Dead Sea, the Israelis reported. A spokesman said all planes returned safely.

A military spokesman in Amman, the Jordanian capital, said there were no casualties among Jordanian troops, but did not say anything about guerrillas.

Israeli planes hit the same target late Wednesday, but the Jordanians said ground fire drove them off.

Only Willing To Discuss Some Points

SAIGON (AP) — The Saigon government tonight rejected the new Viet Cong call for a provisional coalition government but said it is willing to discuss several other points in the 10-part peace program the Communists put before the Paris talks Thursday.

A Foreign Ministry communiqué said discussions could be held on such questions as exchange of prisoners of war, the re-establishment of the demilitarized zone and respect of the 1962 Geneva agreements on Laos.

This was expected to be unacceptable to the Viet Cong, which had termed its 10-point proposal an "integrated whole."

The 10 points, proposed by the Viet Cong's Tran Bui Kiem at Thursday's Paris session, stack up basically as a combination of elements in the four and five-point plans long standard in North Vietnamese and Viet Cong diplomatic presentations.

But the new text omitted their customary propaganda polemics, went into greater detail than before, used more different phrasings and left enough ambiguities to whet the appetites of U.S. strategists searching for a break in the lengthening stale-

PD Sergeant Quits Post

Sgt. Richard Anderson of the Circleville Police Department officially submitted his resignation Thursday afternoon.

Sgt. Anderson had been on vacation for three weeks. The ten-year veteran of the police department had indicated when he started his vacation he would not return.

He has been employed by the Circleville Du Pont Plant. Anderson said he was resigning for "personal reasons." The letter of resignation noted that Anderson disagreed with Chief of Police Robert Temple in a matter involving department personnel, over seniority and in alleged inequality of schooling for officers.

Although it included a blast at Israeli leaders, Malik's statement was taken by some observers to be aimed at Egypt, which has said the cease-fire is no longer applicable along the canal because Israel has built up its fortifications there.

In Lebanon, the explosive dispute between the caretaker government and the Arab guerrilla organization called Al Salka continued. Official sources said hundreds of armed commandos remained encamped in the hills overlooking Hachaya, in southern Lebanon, where the Lebanese army and the guerrillas clashed earlier this week.

Prosecutor Says Evans A Coward

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Fred "Ahmed" Evans has been labeled by Assistant Prosecutor Charles Laurie as a "coward" who "gave up when it got too hot."

Laurie's charge came as he ended the second day of his closing argument Thursday in the first-degree murder trial of the 37-year-old Black Nationalist leader in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

Evans is accused of shooting to death three Cleveland policemen and a civilian during sniper fire in the Glenville area of Cleveland last July 23.

Laurie said that Evans shot at police, "then took shelter in an attic because the situation was too rough for him."

The assistant prosecutor labeled Evans the "leader of a holocaust."

Unconfirmed reports said that about 15 Indonesian soldiers have been killed in the sporadic fighting that broke out around May 1.

The 400 paratroopers were dropped around Enarotali, in the central highlands, after the tribesmen damaged the airstrip to prevent planes from landing. It appeared today that the troops have recaptured the airstrip and the town, relieving a small garrison of troops that had been cut off.

The uprising was part of a series of demonstrations May 1 against the procedure worked out by the Indonesian government to determine in July whether the western half of the island of New Guinea will become the independent state of Papua or remain the Indonesian province of West Irian.

The rebellious tribesmen raised flags of the Free Papua movement and ordered Indonesian officials and teachers out of the Enarotali area. Free Papua flags also were hoisted in Biak and other towns.

The Papuans claim the Indonesian government is trying to rig the plebiscite, known as the "act of free choice." The inland tribes are angry because advisory boards chosen by the government will vote for them while a popular referendum will be held in the more advanced coastal lowlands.

In a broadcast from a missionary radio station in the Enarotali area, the tribesmen demanded that Indonesian troops be withdrawn and said: "We do not want pressure from outside for the act of free choice."

A Dutch missionary who knows the territory said: "The tribes did not want bloodshed only the withdrawal of the troops. But the shooting broke out after a plane landed with troops despite warning from the chiefs not to do so."

Harsha Bill Blocks Funds To Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William H. Harsha, Ohio's 6th District Republican congressman, continued his attack today on academic administrators who fail to halt campus disorders.

Harsha has introduced a bill requiring that all federal funds be frozen at any institution where order has not been restored, and that any federal subsidies or payment be withheld from any teacher or lecturer found guilty of violating any law in connection with campus disorder.

He testified for his bill earlier in the week before the Special House Subcommittee on Education.

In his weekly report to citizens in his district Harsha said that "in five incredible years, we have seen student dissidence and protest escalate from marches, sit-ins and teach-ins to sieges, sackings and pillaging."

"It is an approach to the tragic that, in the main, the nation's academic administrators have demonstrated a lack of backbone with which to properly meet these responsibilities; nor, in the main, do they suggest appreciation of what their failures have meant to the academic community and the nation as a whole."

"Worse, there is little suggestion that they intend to remedy this attitude, this condition, which, today, so severely concerns the American people and their representatives in Congress."

Israeli Forces Take Action Against Arab Guerrillas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Israel stepped up operations against Arab guerrillas in Jordan with a ground raid and two air strikes within 36 hours.

Israeli commandos dashed 1 1/2 miles beyond the Jordan River Thursday night in the first such raid of the year and blew up houses of Arab guerrillas at Wadi Jabbel, a military spokesman in Tel Aviv said.

There were no Israeli casualties, the spokesman added.

Earlier Thursday, Israeli jet fighters bombed and strafed Bir El Harir, an Arab guerrilla camp in southern Jordan 20 miles south of the Dead Sea, the Israelis reported. A spokesman said all planes returned safely.

A military spokesman in Amman, the Jordanian capital, said there were no casualties among Jordanian troops, but did not say anything about guerrillas.

Israeli planes hit the same target late Wednesday, but the Jordanians said ground fire drove them off.

PD Sergeant Quits Post

Sgt. Richard Anderson of the Circleville Police Department officially submitted his resignation Thursday afternoon.

Sgt. Anderson had been on vacation for three weeks. The ten-year veteran of the police department had indicated when he started his vacation he would not return.

He has been employed by the Circleville Du Pont Plant.

Anderson said he was resigning for "personal reasons." The letter of resignation noted that Anderson disagreed with Chief of Police Robert Temple in a matter involving department personnel, over seniority and in alleged inequality of schooling for officers.

Johnson was captured by Deputy Thompson Thursday following a 100 mile per hour chase that ended in Fox. The items displayed, including a TV, organ, electric guitar and gas tanks, are believed to have come from at least six other counties.

Confessed Burglar Bound To Grand Jury On 2 Counts

A man captured after a 100 mile per hour chase Thursday, entered a plea of guilty to burglary in Circleville Municipal Court Friday.

Henry Johnson, 47, Zanesville, confessed in court to breaking and entering and stealing items valued at $1,235.00 from the Charles Galloway home on Route 1, Williamsport, Thursday.

He had allegedly taken a television set, several fire arms, radio, frozen foods and soft drinks.

New Ruling Made For Blood Donors

A new ruling regarding blood donations was announced Wednesday at a meeting of the Regional Committee of the Central Ohio Red Cross Blood Center.

The ruling affects persons who have received malaria immunizations or have served in areas where this immunization was necessary. These persons may now become donors. Blood can be collected from the donor six months after the injection. This blood is then used for fractionation. In a period of two years, this donation can then be used for whole blood.

Pickaway County Chapter of American Red Cross was represented at the Wednesday meeting in Columbus by Mrs. Robert Dahl, arl Longocui and Mrs. Roliff Wolford.

Another report of local interest was explained by Dean Dugger, administrative director. There has been increased pressure exerted by the medical profession for replacement of blood used by Franklin County residents. Franklin County does not have total coverage of blood needs as do Pickaway County residents. This has resulted in pre-deposit cards being given erroneously to persons who are residents of counties eligible to receive blood without replacement.

All Pickaway County residents or members of families are currently eligible to receive blood without replacement.

If any person from this area receives a pre-deposit card for the replacement of blood, he may present it to the local chapter of Red Cross at 167 Watt St. for validation.

As long as Pickaway County maintains 90 per cent or more of quota of blood donations requirements, no pre-deposit of blood will be necessary.

Solons Wait For Word From Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several senators—Republicans and Democrats alike—say Abe Fortas should answer allegations about his financial conduct, but few appear eager for an official inquiry unless the Supreme Court justice volunteers to testify.

"The Senate and the nation are waiting for Mr. Fortas to indicate that he would like to come," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield endorsed a suggestion Thursday that the Senate Judiciary Committee offer a forum for Fortas if the justice should decide to reply to allegations that he receive a fee after joining the Supreme Court.

"The situation has created a state of unease in the Senate and a state of concern," Mansfield said of the Fortas case.

He said it was up to Fortas and the committee to decide whether they would do anything.

Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Senate's No. 2 Democrat, initially proposed that the committee make itself available so Fortas could discuss the alleged $20,000 fee from the family foundation of Louis E. Wolfson, a financier now serving a prison term for selling unregistered stock.

Viet Cong Document Urges Summer Attack

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong's high command has called for a summer offensive in South Vietnam to force the Saigon regime to agree to a coalition government and compel the United States to withdraw troops from the country, according to a captured document made public today.

The U.S. mission said the document was issued by the Central Office for South Vietnam, the Viet Cong's supreme headquarters.

"The importance of the summer (offensive) should be clearly pointed out," the document said. "It is a very important phase intended to compel the enemy... to accept serious negotiations with us, to withdraw troops, to recognize the National Liberation Front, and to accept a coalition government."

The document gave no timetable for the new offensive, but documents captured earlier have indicated it would start in May or June.

The National Liberation Front (NLF), political arm of the Viet Cong, put forward a 10-point peace program at the Paris talks Thursday. It included a coalition government and withdrawal of all American forces.

The Viet Cong document made public in Saigon outlined these requirements for the summer offensive:

- It must be more aggressive, stronger and more painful to the Americans and the South Vietnamese than the spring offensive launched Feb. 23.
- It must succeed in destroying, wearing down, and disintegrating more American potential, more main force South Vietnamese troops, and especially more South Vietnamese village and hamlet officials.
- It must destroy large amounts of allied war materials and supply facilities.
- It must include strong attacks on allied rear bases.
- The document also called for incitement of a general uprising among the population, and "liberation of hamlets and wards when the situation is favorable."

The document said the Communists "do not intend to attain the (final) victory overnight or in a single phase... The victory will not come to us in such an easy way, but it will come in a difficult and complicated way."

It will be a limited victory and not a clearcut, complete victory."

The document termed the spring offensive a success which had upset President Nixon's plans.

"We did not conduct any phase (offensive) from September to February," the document said. "This made Nixon think that we lost the initiative and that he can hold a firmer, stronger position at the negotiation table."

"The success of the 1969 spring offensive upset Nixon's plan because U.S. forces were heavily hit, and their weakening puppet (South Vietnamese) army could no longer provide support for the implementation of neocolonialism."

"The antiwar movement in the U.S. flared up again, strongly demanding withdrawal of U.S. troops. In short, the 1969 spring offensive forced Nixon to adopt a clearer policy for Vietnam and to end the war in our direction."

mate at the conference table.

It also was noted that Kiem's statement was the first such enemy presentation since the return to Paris of Le Duc Tho, the most powerful member of the North Vietnamese negotiating team, from consultations in Hanoi.

Nixon discussed the enemy plan with security affairs advisor Henry A. Kissinger at Key Biscayne, Fla., following the news from Paris.

Since the President sees secret talks as the best way to make negotiating progress, the U.S. mission headed by Henry Cabot Lodge probably will try to sound out enemy envoys privately.

Stock List Stays Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued higher in fairly active trading today with brokers reporting some investor caution and profit-taking pressure.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 0.77 at 964.45.

Gains led losses by better than 150 issues.

Brokers said that investors still were encouraged by hope of progress in the Vietnam peace talks, but that they also were concerned to some extent by the domestic economic situation as well as by the international monetary situation.

"Profit taking also continues to cut into the market," an analyst said, "and you've got some of the usual preweekend caution."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 341.3, with industrials up .7, rails up .1, and utilities up .6.

Of the 20 most-active issues on the American Stock Exchange, 10 were higher, 7 lower, and 3 unchanged.

Students Stage Own Version Of The 'Great Depression'

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Fremont Junior High School students endured a mock Great Depression week in an experiment aimed at increasing understanding between the generations.

Each of the youngsters was to spend only 25 cents for the week. They walked to school, washed their socks and underwear each night with bar soap, ate beans, hot dogs, hamburgers, lettuce sandwiches and boiled potatoes.

Two hundred students started the experiment Monday on the suggestion of Mrs. Marcella Othus, eighth grade social studies teacher. About 150 continued.

The students were given a clothing list, but many chose to wear clothes that had been stored in their parents' attics since the 1930s.

Underwear and socks were the only clothing they had to wash by hand.

"Some of the students have been complaining that their clothes are stiff and itchy," Mrs. Othus said. "They're not wringing all the soap out."

One mother wrote to Mrs. Othus: "As a child of the Great Depression, I hope your week will stress the fact that we were materially short but not really mentally depressed. What you've never had, you don't miss."

The students won't receive a grade for the week. They will get a reward—a free Laurel and Hardy movie during class time.

Fake 'Grass' Still Works

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ten regular smokers of marijuana got the same effects from dummy cigarettes in a laboratory experiment as they did from the real thing, two medical researchers reported today.

At times during the test the young men smoked real marijuana cigarettes. At other times, in the same laboratory, they smoked cigarettes that looked, tasted and smelled exactly the same but lacked the active chemical ingredient in marijuana.

And they could not tell the difference.

Both kinds of cigarettes gave them the feeling of being mildly "high" or slightly intoxicated.

The experiment shows, among other things, the unreliability of trusting smokers to judge the potency of the marijuana they use, the researchers said in a report to the convention of the American Psychiatric Association.

Arrest Daughter Of Ohio Sheriff

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) —Four more persons, including the daughter of Ottawa County Sheriff James Ellenberger, were arrested Thursday in a crackdown on drug usage in the Port Clinton area.

The action brought the total number of arrests to 25 and Common Pleas Judge Thomas D. Stahl said today that seven more secret indictments remained to be served.

Mrs. Cathy Chaffin, 20, daughter of Sheriff Ellenberger, was arrested by the sheriff's department on charges of four counts of possession of marijuana, one of possessing LSD, two of contributing to the delinquency of minors and four of keeping a house where narcotics were administered or distributed. She was released on her own recognizance pending court action.

Sight Warships Of U.S., Russia

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese patrol boat sighted three Soviet destroyers and a U.S. destroyer today in Tushima Strait which separates Japan from South Korea, the Maritime Safety Agency reported.

It said the Soviet warships were heading northward from a point about 20 miles northeast of Tushima Island. About two miles behind the Russian vessels and cruising in the same direction was a U.S. destroyer believed to be the Meredith, the agency added.

It said another patrol boat reported sighting a U.S. aircraft carrier and three destroyers in the East China Sea about 74 miles south of Cheju Island, south of the Korean peninsula.

Edward N. McMillian, vice president of the brokerage firm, referred all queries to the company's public relations office in New York.

La Rue Applegate, an employee there, was quoted by the Boston Record American as saying: "It's a two-year-old case."

Band Notes

Hope you all haven't forgotten the Band Concert to be held Friday, May 9 7:30 p.m. at Westfall High School. Why not make it an SRO (standing room only)?

Tuesday, April 29, the high school band presented a concert program for the first through sixth grades of the Williamsport school in their auditorium. Under the direction of Larry Eicher, it was a delightful hour. The student body was much impressed and enthusiastic as well as the faculty and other school personnel. Hopefully, this will serve to encourage the young students in taking a band instrument.

Banquet

Last Thursday evening approximately 200 folks enjoyed a delicious carry-in dinner and a fine program afterwards.

This was the annual instrumental music department's banquet held at Westfall High.

Lovely floral arrangements and musical notes decorated the tables and individual place cards marked the spot for each of the more than 100 members of the band honored. Mrs. Don Garrison, Mrs. Frank Riddle, Mrs. John Riddle, Mrs. William Keller and Mrs. Paul Schein deserve the thanks for the decorations.

The beverages and rolls were furnished by the Westfall Boosters and "handling" this detail were Mrs. Eicher, Mrs. Lawrence Reid, Mrs. George Dean, Art and Sue Dick (Art was busy telling folks about friends of his who had been in Rome).

For those persons unfamiliar with the Boosters (and even some of the members who are unsure) I would like to point out that the Booster Club is not just for athletics, but is ready and willing to do whatever they can for all the extracurricular activities. They help provide those "things" the school board might be unable to, and possibly the activities fund can't.

They not only help at the high school level, but I know they contributed greatly in the purchase of football uniforms for the junior high. Most, if not all, of the band uniforms were paid for by the Boosters.

They have accomplished some remarkable feats in their few years of existence and can and will do even more. What the club needs is for everyone to be a part of and work for Boosters and what is most important — attend the meetings held every third Wednesday of the month.

This is the best way to keep informed. We are a very good school district — (with the potential of greatness) — with a fine student body — good faculty — and the friendliest parents. Taking six schools, Monroe, Derby, Jackson,

Grant Is Awarded To Hocking Hospital

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Appalachian Regional Commission has awarded a $23,933 grant to the Hocking Valley Community Hospital in Logan.

Albert G. Giles, director of the Ohio Office of Appalachia, said the money will be used toward building a $102,200 public health clinic on the hospital grounds.

Muhlenberg, Atlanta and Williamsport and blending into one school can be trying, but from my observations, it has been done well — the problems have been minimal.

More School News

The fifth and sixth graders will travel to Columbus Friday, May 23, to the Center of Science and Industry (COSI). According to E. Miller Hundley, principal of Williamsport school, permission slips to be signed by the parents will be sent home a few days before the scheduled trip.

It must be signed and returned! All mothers can keep a watchful eye, especially, on the son's pants pockets where I always seem to find any notices etc on wash day.

An open invitation to all parents of Jackson Junior High eighth graders to attend a meeting next Wednesday May 14, 1 p.m. in the Jackson School auditorium. Purpose is to make plans for a party to be held after graduation exercises, Monday, June 2.

Honor Banquet

Thursday, May 15, 6:30 p.m. the Honors Student Banquet will be held at Jackson School. This, too, is a carry-in dinner so plan to attend — bring the family, table service and a covered dish or so. Rolls and beverage will be furnished. The dinner is open to the public and what a nice tribute to the honor students of the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades to have the tables filled.

Beginning last year an orientation day for the 6th graders was inaugurated and Thursday (May 8) is the big day for this year's students to become acquainted with the nooks and crannies of Jackson Jr. High.

Selected to serve as group leaders are seventh graders: Becki Easterday, Chris Hansen, Nancy Mace, Steve Wynn, Jim Moseley, Rick Metzger, Mike Martin, Chuck Graffis, Vicki Rockwell and Nancy Dean. The eighth graders will spend this same day at Westfall High.

Senior Class Play

The cast of "Quit Your Kidding" has been busily rehearsing their lines for opening night curtain, Friday, May 16, 8 p.m. Directed by Mrs. Katherine Tadlock and student director Laura Writsel the senior class play will also have a second performance at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, May 17.

Advance tickets may be purchased from the seniors and of course at the door the nights performing. The entire cast — onstage and backstage — are exerting every effort for a successful venture.

I hope I can tell well an anecdote connected with the play. One day last week I called the high school to obtain a few pertinent facts. I announced who I was and explained what the call was about — just as I mentioned "title" the voice answers, "Quit Your Kidding" — stunned, I gasped, "Huh?" and in that split second the light dawned that it was the name of the play.

Needless to say I broke up — fell apart at the seams became all "discombobulated." With a great deal of struggle I managed to regain my composure and get a few more details. This surely proves one thing to me — that Gordon Massie (principal) is quick with the answers.

Junior Senior Prom

Mothers of juniors (11th grade) met at the high school last Thursday, May 1, to make their plans for the Junior and Senior Prom on Saturday, May 24.

Which leads me to ponder a question? That same day, (May 1) there was a track meet, tournament baseball game, band banquet and the mothers meeting — activities that I knew about — there may have been others — any way, with five school days in one week and Saturday to "play around" with, will someone tell why it always happens 2 or 3 (or more) school activities are scheduled for the same night?

Alumni Banquet

Time is drawing short to get your reservations in to Mrs. Carl Hooks, Route 1, Williamsport, 43164 for the May 17, 6:30 p.m. Williamsport Alumni Banquet. Be sure to state the number of reservations and remit amount due ($2 per person) by May 10. If you did not receive an invitation it was inadvertently omitted or possibly needed a change of address since the mailing list does need revision. Feel free to come!

And do keep in mind the china plates with the picture of the school that the alumni will be selling. You do not need to be an alumnus to purchase a plate — the committee will happily sell to anyone with $2.50 per plate.

Paper Routes

The home delivery of the Herald started last Thursday and has been accepted quite well by the majority of customers. At present there is a north route carried by Johnny Long, son of Carl and Ruth Long — this is all subscribers north of the Pavilion (town hall, fire house etc.) Johnny can be contacted by calling 986-2212. The south route is done by Becki Easterday, phone 986-3481.

The cost for this door-to-door service is only .50 per week with the papers being delivered between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. give or take a few minutes. By the way, contrary to popular opinion it was not the idea of yours truly but strictly a policy of the Herald and I am happy to give them full credit. However, I have long hoped they would do just such.

This 'n That

A quintet comprised of Karen and Kathy Kneece (twins) Diane Pitt, Rosemarie Mosely, and Mike Puckett provided several musical numbers last week at the Missionary Convention in the Ashville Church of Christ in Christian Union. Members of the local Christian Church, the group was there each night, May 1, thru May 4. Mrs. William (Janice O'Connor) Voss, a former village resident, is president of the Missionary Department at Ashville which is now home to she and her family.

Mrs. Marguerite Grigsby has returned to her country home south of town after spending the winter months in Florida. Good to have you home, Marguerite!

Mrs. Mac Howson of Tampa, Fla. who had planned to spend a month in Ohio visiting with relatives, including her son and his family — Jack and Annalee, John, Frank, Jack and Larry Howson of our town, was unable to make the trip due to illness.

Walter and Elsie Wright, ardent trailer travelers, recently attended the Air Stream trailer weekend rally at Gallipolis. This past Monday they were in Hilliards, visiting with friends made through their association in the trailer club.

It was a pleased as punch birthday gal I talked with Monday when Mrs. Joe (Florence) West, over 93 yr. old, excitedly told me of the day's events. She was the luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Newlon, Fox Post Office. Her next door neighbor, Mrs. William (Annabelle) Rhinesmiller baked her a lovely birthday cake. She received several calls, gifts and well over 100 birthday cards. She wants everyone to know how very pleased and appreciative she is — a big thank you to all.

Gene Grigsby, local farmer, suffered an injury to his right leg and knee the other day in an accident that occurred while he was separating a mare and her colt from the other horses in the field.

Mrs. Paul (Irma) Fenstermaker accompanied her father-in-law, Charles Fenstermaker to his home at Avon Lake, Fla. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Norma Fenstermaker of Baltimore, O. also made the trip. They remained over for the weekend, returning home the first of the week.

Forrest and Leona Easterday (our cousins) of Circleville stopped by Monday afternoon for a long chatting session. They had just returned from a visit with their daughter and family — Mr. and Mrs. Danny Leonhardt, Sherry and Lisa who are with the Navy based in Connecticut. You know it's nice to have relatives who are also good friends.

Charlie Palmer, a son of Frank and Lois Palmer, fortunately escaped serious injury when he had the misfortune to hit a steer that had strayed onto the highway as he was on his way to Wilmington. His car (which he had just acquired) was demolished.

Jill Steinhauer was home over the weekend bringing with her extra clothing and household effects from her apartment that aren't needed since she will soon be leaving her employment and apartment in Columbus and returning to classes at Ohio U. for her junior year where she will resume her education major.

A number of baseball minded fellows were in Cincinnati, Saturday, to watch the Reds vs San Diego Padres and locally it was John Valone, a son of Ray and Jean Valone. Mr. Paul Hoskins, Westfall coach "piloted" one car load and a Mr. Riddle another one.

Sunday dinner guests of Cotton and Helen Timmons were her son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy (Tuk) Morgan and Jeff of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krumm and Chip and Candy of Reynoldsburg.

Ernie and Betty Lahmer announce the recent birth of twins — calves that is — they are of the Charolaise breed. The Lahmers reside on the Hornbeck-Garner Road.

Mrs. Glenn (Grace) Whitten is recovering from surgery satisfactorily and may be released from Berger Hospital this weekend.

My dear neighbor, Mrs. Charles (Phoebe) Smiley, our town's 95 year old, is not feeling up to par.

Sunday Showers

I refer not to the rainy type showers but the party variety. By odd coincidence the the hostesses at both parties used yellow and white decorations.

Mrs. James (Karen) Dean, local and Mrs. Robert (Janet) Sampson of Circleville entertained at a bridal shower for Miss Linda Stubbs, bride elect of the hostesses' cousin, Richard Woodward. The Dean home was beautifully decorated with yellow streamers and white wedding bells and the same appointments carried through with the gift table and even the chair that the honored guest sat on as she opened her lovely gifts received from: Mrs. Irene Stubbs, Mrs. Marie Brooks, Mrs. Maxine Lanman, Miss Barbara Lanman, Mrs. Cathy Seeley, Mrs. Richard Redman, Mrs. Robert Woodward, Mrs. Kenneth Blue, Mrs.

Joseph Blue, Mrs. Paul Woodward, Mrs. John Stevenson all attending and from Mrs. Jack Brooks, Miss Susan Lanman, Mrs. Frank Woodward Jr., Mrs. Don Woodward, Mrs. Edward Strawser, Mrs. Paul Kennedy, Mrs. Clarence Delong, unable to attend. Games appropriate to the occasion were played and won by the bride elect, her mother, Mrs. Irene Stubbs and aunt-to-be Mrs. Marie Brooks. Mrs. Brooks had also contributed a large cake breathtakingly beautiful with its icing decorations of yellow and green umbrellas. Other refreshments served were punch, coffee, mints and nuts.

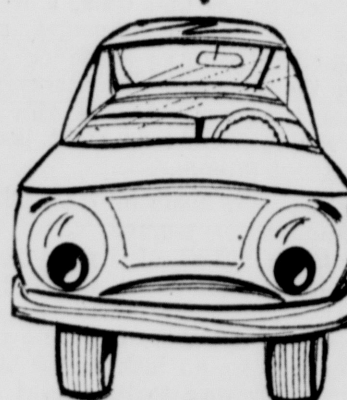

Mrs. Robert (Betty) Shaeffer, aunt and Miss Cathy Miller, best friend of Mrs. Terry Banks honored her with a baby shower at the Methodist Church annex. Their decorations consisted of a large stork carrying a wee one and yellow and white colors. Mrs. Banks, the former Sue Steinhauer, received many lovely gifts from a host of good friends, her relatives, the papato-be's relatives and former Westfall classmates.

Sunday evening supper guests of Earl and Maxine Lanman and Bobbie were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Woodward, Mrs. John Stevenson of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. James (daughter Karen) Dean, baby Michele and her constant companion Penny (her dog).

Mothers of juniors (11th grade) met at the high school last Thursday, May 1, to make their plans for the Junior and Senior Prom on Saturday, May 24.

Which leads me to ponder a question?

That same day, (May 1) there was a track meet, tournament baseball game, band banquet and the mothers meeting — activities that I knew about — there may have been others — any way, with five school days in one week and Saturday to "play around" with, will someone tell why it always happens 2 or 3 (or more) school activities are scheduled for the same night?

Alumni Banquet

Time is drawing short to get your reservations in to Mrs. Carl Hooks, Route 1, Williamsport, 43164 for the May 17, 6:30 p.m. Williamsport Alumni Banquet. Be sure to state the number of reservations and remit amount due ($2 per person) by May 10. If you did not receive an invitation it was inadvertently omitted or possibly needed a change of address since the mailing list does need revision. Feel free to come!

And do keep in mind the china plates with the picture of the school that the alumni will be selling. You do not need to be an alumnus to purchase a plate — the committee will happily sell to anyone with $2.50 per plate.

Paper Routes

The home delivery of the Herald started last Thursday and has been accepted quite well by the majority of customers. At present there is a north route carried by Johnny Long, son of Carl and Ruth Long — this is all subscribers north of the Pavilion (town hall, fire house etc.) Johnny can be contacted by calling 986-2213. The south route is done by Becki Easterday, phone 986-3481.

The cost for this door-to-door service is only .50 per week with the papers being delivered between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. give or take a few minutes. By the way, contrary to popular opinion it was not the idea of yours truly but strictly a policy of the Herald and I am happy to give them full credit. However, I have long hoped they would do just such.

This 'n That

A quintet comprised of Karen and Kathy Kneec (twins) Diane Pitt, Rosemarie Mosely, and Mike Puckett provided several musical numbers last week at the Missionary Convention in the Ashville Church of Christ in Christian Union. Members of the local Christian Church, the group was there each night, May 1, thru May 4. Mrs. William (Janice O'Connor) Voss, a former village resident, is president of the Missionary Department at Ashville which is now home to she and her family.

Mrs. Marguerite Grigsby has returned to her country home south of town after spending the winter months in Florida. Good to have you home, Marguerite!

Mrs. Mac Howsmon of Tampa, Fla. who had planned to spend a month in Ohio visiting with relatives, including her son and his family — Jack and Annalee, John, Frank, Jack and Larry Howsmon of our town, was unable to make the trip due to illness.

Walter and Elsie Wright, ardent trailer travelers, recently attended the Air Stream trailer weekend rally at Gallipolis. This past Monday they were in Hilliards, visiting with friends made through their association in the trailer club.

It was a pleased as punch birthday gal I talked with Monday when Mrs. Joe (Florence) West, over 93 yr. old, excitedly told me of the day's events. She was the luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Newlon, Fox Post Office. Her next door neighbor, Mrs. William (Annabelle) Rhinesmith baked her a lovely birthday cake. She received several calls, gifts and well over 100 birthday cards. She wants everyone to know how very pleased and appreciative she is — a big thank you to all.

Gene Grigsby, local farmer, suffered an injury to his right leg and knee the other day in an accident that occurred while he was separating a mare and her colt from the other horses in the field.

Mrs. Paul (Irma) Fenstermaker accompanied her father-in-law, Charles Fenstermaker to his home at Avon Lake, Fla. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Norma Fenstermaker of Baltimore, O. also made the trip. They remained over for the weekend, returning home the first of the week.

Forrest and Leona Easterday (our cousins) of Circleville stopped by Monday afternoon for a long chatting session. They had just returned from a visit with their daughter and family — Mr. and Mrs. Danny Leonhardt, Sherry and Lisa who are with the Navy based in Connecticut. You know it's nice to have relatives who are also good friends.

Charlie Palmer, a son of Frank and Lois Palmer, fortunately escaped serious injury when he had the misfortune to hit a steer that had strayed onto the highway as he was on his way to Wilmington. His car (which he had just acquired) was demolished.

Jill Steinhauser was home over the weekend bringing with her extra clothing and household effects from her apartment that aren't needed since she will soon be leaving her employment and apartment in Columbus and returning to classes at Ohio U. for her junior year where she will resume her education major.

A number of baseball minded fellows were in Cincinnati, Saturday, to watch the Reds vs San Diego Padres and locally it was John Valone, a son of Ray and Jean Valone. Mr. Paul Hoskins, Westfall coach "piloted" one car load and a Mr. Riddle another one.

Sunday dinner guests of Cotton and Helen Timmons were her son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy (Tuk) Morgan and Jeff of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krumm and Chip and Candy of Reynoldsburg.

Ernie and Betty Lahmer announce the recent birth of twins — calves that is — they are of the Charolaise breed. The Lahmers reside on the Hornbeck-Garner Road.

Mrs. Glenn (Grace) Whitten is recovering from surgery satisfactorily and may be released from Berger Hospital this weekend.

My dear neighbor, Mrs. Charles (Phoebe) Smiley, our town's 95 year old, is not feeling up to par.

Sunday Showers I refer not to the rainy type showers but the party variety. By odd coincidence the the hostesses at both parties used yellow and white decorations.

Mrs. James (Karen) Dean, local and Mrs. Robert (Janet) Sampson of Circleville entertained at a bridal shower for Miss Linda Stubbs, bride elect of the hostesses' cousin, Richard Woodward. The Dean home was beautifully decorated with yellow streamers and white wedding bells and the same appointments carried through with the gift table and even the chair that the honored guest sat on as she opened her lovely gifts received from: Mrs. Irene Stubbs, Mrs. Marie Brooks, Mrs. Maxine Lanman, Miss Barbara Lanman, Mrs. Cathy Seeley, Mrs. Richard Redman, Mrs. Robert Woodward, Mrs. Kenneth Blue, Mrs.

Joseph Blue, Mrs. Paul Woodward, Mrs. John Stevenson all attending and from Mrs. Jack Brooks, Miss Susan Lanman, Mrs. Frank Woodward Jr., Mrs. Don Woodward, Mrs. Edward Strawser, Mrs. Paul Kennedy, Mrs. Clarence Kennedy and Mrs. Grace Delong, unable to attend. Games appropriate to the occasion were played and won by the bride elect, her mother, Mrs. Irene Stubbs and aunt-to-be Mrs. Marie Brooks. Mrs. Brooks had also contributed a large cake breathtakingly beautiful with its icing decorations of yellow and green umbrellas. Other refreshments served were punch, coffee, mints and nuts.

Mrs. Robert (Betty) Shaeffer, aunt and Miss Cathy Miller, best friend of Mrs. Terry Banks honored her with a baby shower at the Methodist Church annex. Their decorations consisted of a large stork carrying a wee one and yellow and white colors. Mrs. Banks, the former Sue Steinhauser, received many lovely gifts from a host of good friends, her relatives, the pap-to-be's relatives and former Westfall classmates.

Sunday evening supper guests of Earl and Maxine Lanman and Bobbie were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Woodward, Mrs. John Stevenson of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. James (daughter Karen) Dean, baby Michele and her constant companion Penny (her dog).

Larry Whaley is one of our service boys so keep up the good work of sending a birthday card to brighten the Vietnam days. Sp-5, Larry A. Whaley RA21880331, 415th T.C. Det. C Trp 7-17th Cav. APO. San Francisco 96262.

Larry's Brother Bob has extended his Vietnam tour for 72 more days and will now be home in Aug. His birthday was in April and he reports how happy he was for all those who remembered him with cards.

The way I count it, Neil Coleman has 24 more days in Korea before embarking stateside and home. That will be a joyous homecoming!

Saturday, May 10, last day to order community calendars from Westfall Band. Hurry!

It was fun day last Saturday for several members of the Deercreek Variety Club and their guests. They had lunch at David's Buffet and then after a bit of shopping, enjoyed Eastland Cinema's showing of "Funny Girl." Making the Columbus trip were: Pearl

An oft heard comment — "aren't the flowers and tree blossoms lovely this spring?" How true and as you pass Jack and Ellen Dunlap's Route 22 home take notice of their gorgeous lilacs and their heavenly odor — not so easily seen from the highway, but truly lovely, too, are the lilacs in their daughter, Shirley (Mrs. Cliff) Bowser's yard.

Tulips all over town are the prettiest ever — A. J. Cook's are outstanding. Others are Dave and Nancy Snyder, Ruth and Harry Keller, John and Minnie Steinhauser, Omer and Della Lemmings to mention only a few. Now I am not trying to usurp the garden editor — I look forward to her page — but she is a busy lady — Pickaway County is fairly good sized and I only want to awaken Williamsport area residents to the beauty in their immediate midst.

Mother's Day

The ideal of motherhood is the most beautiful thing in nature and in life. In the recesses of every heart there is a "Madonna and Child" imprint ever attractive to the inner eye of solitude and stirring wistful recollections of the happiness of childhood.

Sentiment runs high to honor Mother on Mother's Day, and there is no one who is not hard put in mind and in heart for an adequate tribute wherewith to express appreciation. But with Mother on the receiving end, the situation at once becomes relieved of any complexity, for traditionally she is satisfied with little — and to her there never can be anything more than a token payment for value received and services rendered.

Showing Mother a pleasant time seems definitely in order, if only in view of the many hard times given her in the all-dependent days of one's childhood. If mothers seem over-solicitous to their growing children, it is because mothers have sensitized their personalities with years of self sacrifice and devotion.

It is, indeed, a difficult world for a mother endeavoring to shield an adolescent son or daughter from malignant influences without losing the warmth of their affection. Mother's Day is their day for showing her their hearts are in the right place.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF THE BEST of the many prize fight cartoons of our time appeared some years back. It showed a manager working frantically over his sadly battered warrior in a corner of the ring, pleading the while, "Try to hang in there just one more round, Butch. What he's doing to you is beginning to sicken him!"

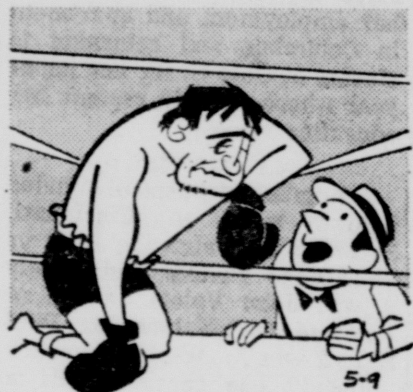

To a distinguished jurist who was being urged to run for a high state office, but demurred because he felt he would be compelled to make some questionable and distressing compromises, the always realistic President Franklin D. Roosevelt summed up his whole concept of politics in one short sentence: "First, get elected, Judge; then get honest!"

QUOTABLE: "I am not being flippant when I suggest that the single most valuable asset for a diplomatic career is the possession of a cast-iron digestion and the ability to sleep like a log anywhere and on anything in the world." — Sir Douglas Buxton.

"I know of no case where a man added to his dignity by standing on it." — Winston Churchill.

"A politician is a person with whose politics you don't agree; if you agree with him he's a statesman!" — David Lloyd George.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A few weeks ago I told you, my readers, that I was prompted by vanity to wear a heavy, weight belt around my waist in an effort to reduce my waistline. At that time, I began to wear an eight-pound belt starting with an hour or two in the morning and increasing the time until I was able to wear it for six or eight hours without fatigue.

The belt, made by the M.F.C. Company, seemed to accomplish part of its purpose. I found that after wearing it consistently for about ten to fourteen days, my waistline was reduced by an inch and a half. This I believe to be a real accomplishment. The belt, however, did not do it alone, for in addition to the regulator lazy exerciser, I had very definitely limited my food intake to about 1,200 calories a day.

I know that I will be asked to account for the method by which a belt accomplishes this. I am certain there is an isometric exercise involved by the pressure of the abdominal muscles against the belt during daily activity.

I must warn all of my readers that this lazy man's way of reducing total weight, or the size of the waistline, is just another method of avoiding coming face-to-face with the established scientific fact that overeating makes one gain weight. Undereating in a sensible way can make one lose total weight in localized areas of the body. There is no short cut to the personal deprivation that comes with giving up those luscious desserts and french fried potatoes.

It is astonishing how many physical diseases are either attributed totally or partially to the stress of modern living. Emotions and stress are not the only answer, but certainly they must always be given some recognition since they are implicated so often in the structure of physical illnesses.

It will come as a surprise to many that asthma, migraine headaches, stomach and duodenal ulcers, ulcerative colitis, arthritis, high blood pressure and imbalance of the endocrine hormone glands system are intimately related to stress and emotion.

A famous Canadian authority on the subject of stress, Dr. Hans Selye, feels that factors other than tension and emotional upsets can be considered as stressful to the body. For example, stress can be a burden on the body and can be caused by infection, injury, severe fatigue, drug reactions,

SDS Contains Conflicts

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The Students for a Democratic Society contain many conflicting elements. There are the admitted small-c communists (Michael Klonsky, the national secretary and others in the "Chicago bureaucracy"), the Maoist-Castroites (the Progressive Labor Party adherents), the Trotskyites, the anarchists and the rebels who are still shopping for an ideology. But, sad to say about an organization that professes to have some measure of idealism, however perverted, the SDS also attracts a number of petty thieves.

The revolutionary justification for stealing from the files of a professor or a dean is understandable if you believe in the Marxian concept of the class war. When the SDS invaders at Harvard, Columbia or wherever look through desks in search of confidential letters from the CIA to a political science instructor, they can cite N. Lenin's idea of "Morality" as anything that favors the triumph of the proletarian cause. This doesn't mean that the Lenin definition of morality has any ethical validity, but we are talking here about honestly deluded kids.

It could have been honest delusion when a group of SDSers invaded the Maury Hall offices of George Washington University's Sino-Soviet Institute in Washington, D.C., and stole some confidential interviews with Japanese and Taiwan statesmen from the files of Professor Franz Michael. But the search for "compromising" information might have been carried out at the Sino-Soviet Institute without kicking students' theses around the hallways, jeopardizing the full year's work of boys whose political philosophies are quite unknown to the SDS. For all the Sino-Soviet Institute invaders may have known, the students whose work was treated so cavalierly could be SDS sympathizers.

Beyond the SDS contempt for academic work, the raid on George Washington University's Sino-Soviet Institute included behavior that is about as idealistic as simple shoplifting. One professor lost a transistor radio and an electric shaver. Another lost a tennis racket. The invaders took with them two tape recorders, a pen and a manicure compact set in gold-plated case. Stalin, of course, thought nothing of conducting bank robberies when he was an undercover revolutionist, but the stolen funds went to swell the treasury of the Bolshevik party. This was in accordance with Lenin's definition of class morality. But what have electric shavers and manicure compacts to contribute to the SDS cause? Particularly when the boys in the "movement" don't shave anyway, and the girls are about as unchic as they come.

After the robberies at the Sino-Soviet Institute, the SDS had the unmitigated gall or chutzpah to insist that the Maury Hall invaders be tried by a judicial body exclusively composed of students. The George Washington Student Assembly voted 14-10 in favor of a student court. But the victims of petty thieves have their own constitutional rights to justice in accordance with the law of the land. When a person steals a transistor radio, a tennis racket or a manicure compact set, he is guilty of something that transcends the question of academic discipline. He is a crook and should be dealt with like any other crook.

Mike Severeid

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The name is familiar: Severeid. But this one is named Michael and he's an actor, not a news commentator.

He's 29, the twin son of CBS News's Eric Severeid. These days Mike looks more like 59, but only because of the nature of his first film role. He's playing a marathon dancer in ABC Palomar Productions' "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?"

For the benefit of youthful readers: A marathon dance was a distraction used during the great Depression, to keep folks' minds off breadlines and apple-sellers. It was a torture contest to determine what couple could stay conscious on a dance floor the longest.

"They Shoot Horses, Don't They?" is about such a contest, and among the marathoners are Jane Fonda, Michael Sarrazan, Red Buttons, Susannah York and Michael Severeid. He's the first in his family to turn to acting. "When you come from a Lutheran Norwegian Midwest background, you don't find many actors in the family," he explained.

Mike Severeid was born in Paris during the fateful year of 1940. His father had been hired by Edward R. Murrow to cover the French side of the war, but the German advance interrupted his assignment. He hurried his wife and infant sons to Genoa, from which they sailed for the United States with 6,000 other escapees from the Hitler invasion.

"My father stayed on to cover the war, and then my mother went to Europe to work for UN-RA," Mike related. "My brother and I were shipped off to live with our grandmother in Minneapolis."

The faculty of the George Washington University's Institute for Sino-Soviet Studies, contemplating the wreckage of their building, complained ruefully of "McCarthyism in reserve," rise to the defense of Joe McCarthy. He never stole an electric shaver, a transistor radio, a tennis racket or a manicure compact. Joe was careless of his language and arithmetic at times but he was not a petty crook.

"We never really saw my father until he came home after the war. When he came in the house, I said to him, 'My daddy's coming home soon.' I guess that kind of shook him up."

The reunited family settled near Washington, D.C., where Severeid's career with CBS News continued to flourish. "It was my brother who got me started with acting," said Mike. "He talked me into appearing with him in a prep school production of 'Inherit the Wind.' I was intrigued, but I had more interest in football and track."

His brother, Peter, now teaches law in Kenya for the Ford Foundation.

Mike did some plays at Middebury College, then cut out to try his hand at acting in New York.

"That was when Dad had his doubts about my acting, he said."

"He thought I was crazy to leave school, but I was going through a period when I couldn't face it. He was in London then and going through a divorce, and he convinced me to come over there and get into drama school. I think he just wanted to have me nearby."

Mike met an Irish girl who was working for the BBC, married her and returned to New York for another try at acting. He returned to college, then landed with the Minneapolis Theater Company, playing character roles at $85 a week. He left the company at the end of its tour here and within a brief time landed the role in "They Shoot Horses."

He is well-built and brown-haired, with the narrow face and deep-set eyes. A realist, he knows that the Severeid name can open doors for him—but after that I'm on my own."

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the season when millions of Americans literally go out of their minds.

By this I mean they go fishing. Fishing is regarded as America's most popular outdoor participant sport. But to the bored nonparticipant it isn't a sport at all. It is an exhibition of mass aberration among overgrown juveniles.

To knock fishing smacks of un-Americanism. But it is also difficult for a reasonable person to see why this pastime should assume the proportions of an idolatry to millions, or why it should have become a favorite sport of at least nine U.S. presidents ranging in intellectual depth from George Washington to Calvin Coolidge.

Certainly there are many more things to criticize about fishing than there are to praise about it, unless one fishes to avoid starving, which is rare.

A sport usually involves competition between opponents who are nearly equal. Measured by this definition, fishing is about as sporting as the shooting of sparrows with shotguns.

Can a fish be classed as a fit opponent for a man? Not unless the fisherman is surprisingly dull-witted. He brings to the unfair contest a human mind, a mind that is the wonder of the animal realm, sharpened by centuries of struggle, and anywhere from $50 to $1,000 or more worth of scientific gadgetry—poles, boats and lures. All this is designed to take advantage of the poor fish's sense of hunger.

And what does the fish bring to this contest, which he has no heart for at all? He brings to it a mind that hasn't progressed in eons, one of the lowest mentalities that ever existed.

Fisherman love to brag about how they outwitted a smart fish, but there simply are not smart fish. How can any creature be classed as smart that is content to subsist on worms and spend its life drowning in water?

An excuse advanced in favor of most sports is that they help build character. On this ground fishing falls down completely. Far from helping to build character, fishing steadily and insidiously tears down the character of its practitioners.

Fishermen are traditionally and notoriously universal liars, a rule that allows of no exception. The more they fish the more they lie; the more fish escape them, the bigger their lies become. If a man starts fishing at 10, by the time he is 70 the truth is no longer in him at all.

Why do men go fishing at all? One is led to the inevitable conclusion that most men who go fishing don't really fish. They simply use fishing as an excuse to play poker, get loaded, or escape from their wives.

On this ground—and this ground alone—fishing can be justified. Fishing isn't a sport. It's just a way for a fellow to run away from home for a while.

But why aren't fishermen manly enough to admit it?

The Business World

By PHILIP WECHSLER (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — The American economy is slowly inching its way toward the three-day weekend.

Indicative of the trend, perhaps, are the passage of legislation fixing certain holidays to fall either on Friday or Monday and the beginning by some companies of an abbreviated form of the long weekend.

Reader's Digest began a four-day week for the month of May for its 2,800 workers. "With the institution of this annual four-day-per-week month, we are once again in the forefront of what I am convinced will eventually be a major trend," said DeWitt Wallace, co-chairman of the magazine located in Pleasantville, N.Y.

McDonald's restaurant chain began last week letting its office employees off at 1 p.m. Fridays until the end of the summer for a quicker start on the weekend. And employees, in the Chicago headquarters and six regional offices around the country, showed up for work dressed in sports clothes—on the orders of McDonald's president, Fred L. Turner.

"What's the point in giving everyone Friday afternoon off if they have to spend time getting home and changing clothes?" Turner said. "The summer weekend is a fact of American life and our hours are designed to give our employees a long weekend."

But he pointed out, however, office employees will observe 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. hours during the rest of the week to make up for the short Friday schedule.

Eighteen employees of the Bank of New York's fiduciary data control section also are receiving the dividend of a four-day week, although a bank spokesman emphasized they work the normal 35-hour week.

The spokesman explained the experiment began because most of the work in the section does not come into the office until after noon. Previously this resulted in a substantial amount of overtime. Now the employees work from noon to 9:45 p.m. and are scheduled so that the office is manned Monday through Friday.

Agreeing with the principle of a three-day weekend is Edward Cleary, president of a New York City electrical union local whose 10,000 members in the construction field are believed to have the shortest work day in the nation—five hours.

"With the work force growing each year and technological advances replacing more workers, the shorter work week is an economic necessity," says Cleary. Some experts, however, foresee in 10 to 20 years adoption of a shorter work day or some other form of abbreviated schedule before the three-day weekend.

Phyllis Moerhle of the National Association of Manufacturers believes the American worker will have longer vacations, more holidays, earlier retirement and the shorter work day.

Mrs. Moerhle, director of the NAM's Institute on Industrial Relations, says "perhaps by the end of the century" the four-day week may be a reality.

The NAM states: "If we are to have a simultaneous increase in leisure and in standard of living, the two together cannot exceed the gain in productivity, which in the past has been at an average rate of about 2 1/2 per cent per year. If we are to have both, both must occur at a very gradual pace."

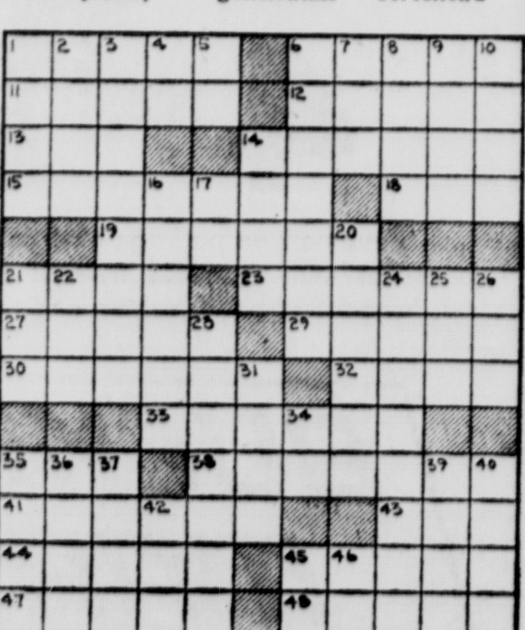

"Thus it would appear that any abrupt, drastic and widespread reduction of the work week is ruled out."

Santa Sophia, the great mosque in Constantinople, was built in the 6th century as a Christian cathedral and dedicated not to any saint named Sophia but to that quality of the divine Trinity called Hagia Sophia (Sacred Wisdom).

Mother's Day

The ideal of motherhood is the most beautiful thing in nature and in life. In the recesses of every heart there is a "Madonna and Child" imprint ever attractive to the inner eye of solitude and stirring wistful recollections of the happiness of childhood.

Sentiment runs high to honor Mother on Mother's Day, and there is no one who is not hard put in mind and in heart for an adequate tribute wherewith to express appreciation. But with Mother on the receiving end, the situation at once becomes relieved of any complexity, for traditionally she is satisfied with little — and to her there never can be anything more than a token payment for value received and services rendered.

Showing Mother a pleasant time seems definitely in order, if only in view of the many hard times given her in the all-dependent days of one's childhood. If mothers seem over-solicitous to their growing children, it is because mothers have sensitized their personalities with years of self sacrifice and devotion.

It is, indeed, a difficult world for a mother endeavoring to shield an adolescent son or daughter from malign influences without losing the warmth of their affection. Mother's Day is their day for showing her their hearts are in the right place.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the season when millions of Americans literally go out of their minds.

By this I mean they go fishing.

Fishing is regarded as America's most popular outdoor participant sport. But to the bored nonparticipant it isn't a sport at all. It is an exhibition of mass aberration among overgrown juveniles.

To knock fishing smacks of un-Americanism. But it is also difficult for a reasonable person to see why this pastime should assume the proportions of an idolatry to millions, or why it should have become a favorite sport of at least nine U.S. presidents ranging in intellectual depth from George Washington to Calvin Coolidge.

Certainly there are many more things to criticize about fishing than there are to praise about it, unless one fishes to avoid starving, which is rare.

A sport usually involves competition between opponents who are nearly equal. Measured by this definition, fishing is about as sporting as the shooting of sparrows with shotguns.

Can a fish be classed as a fit opponent for a man? Not unless the fisherman is surpassingly dull-witted.

He brings to the unfair contest a human mind, a mind that is the wonder of the animal realm, sharpened by centuries of struggle, and anywhere from $50 to $1,000 or more worth of scientific gadgetry—poles, boats and lures. All this is designed to take advantage of the poor fish's sense of hunger.

And what does the fish bring to this contest, which he has no heart for at all? He brings to it a mind that hasn't progressed in eons, one of the lowest mentalities that ever existed.

Fishermen love to brag about how they outwitted a smart fish, but there simply are not smart fish. How can any creature be classed as smart that is content to subsist on worms and spend its life drowning in water? An excuse advanced in favor of most sports is that they help build character. On this ground fishing falls down completely. Far from helping to build character, fishing steadily and insidiously tears down the character of its practitioners.

Fishermen are traditionally and notoriously universal liars, a rule that allows of no exception. The more they fish the more they lie; the more fish escape them, the bigger their lies become. If a man starts fishing at 10, by the time he is 70 the truth is no longer in him at all.

Why do men go fishing at all? One is led to the inevitable conclusion that most men who go fishing don't really fish. They simply use fishing as an excuse to play poker, get loaded, or escape from their wives.

On this ground—and this ground alone—fishing can be justified. Fishing isn't a sport. It's just a way for a fellow to run away from home for a while.

But why aren't fishermen manly enough to admit it?

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF THE BEST of the many prize fight cartoons of our time appeared some years back. It showed a manager working frantically over his sadly battered warrior in a corner of the ring, pleading the while, "Try to hang in there just one more round, Butch. What he's doing to you is beginning to sicken him!"

To a distinguished jurist who was being urged to run for a high state office, but demurred because he felt he would be compelled to make some questionable and distressing compromises, the always realistic President Franklin D. Roosevelt summed up his whole concept of politics in one short sentence: "First get elected, Judge; then get honest!"

QUOTABLE: "I am not being flippant when I suggest that the single most valuable asset for a diplomatic career is the possession of a cast-iron digestion and the ability to sleep like a log anywhere and on anything in the world."—Sir Douglas Buxton.

"I know of no case where a man added to his dignity by standing on it."—Winston Churchill.

"A politician is a person with whose politics you don't agree; if you agree with him he's a statesman."—David Lloyd George.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A few weeks ago I told you, lack of oxygen at unusual heights, and exposure to unusual degrees of heat and cold. These forces produce stress and can alter the normal functioning of all organs of the body.

When one recognizes this, they can have a better understanding of the real meaning of preventive medicine. People can pattern their lives on ways of avoiding many of these stresses and can, in all likelihood, give themselves a gift of longer life in better health.

The belt, made by the M.F.C. Company, seemed to accomplish part of its purpose. I found that after wearing it consistently for about ten to fourteen days, my waistline was reduced by an inch and a half. This I believe to be a real accomplishment. The belt, however, did not do it alone, for in addition to the regular lazy exercise, I had very definitely limited my food intake to about 1,200 calories a day.

I know that I will be asked to account for the method by which a belt accomplishes this. I am certain there is an isometric exercise involved by the pressure of the abdominal muscles against the belt during daily activity.

I must warn all of my readers that this lazy man's way of reducing total weight, or the size of the waistline, is just another method of avoiding coming face-to-face with the established scientific fact that overeating makes one gain weight. Undereating in a sensible way can make one lose total weight in localized areas of the body. There is no short cut to the personal deprivation that comes with giving up those luscious desserts and french fried potatoes.

It is astonishing how many physical diseases are either attributed totally or partially to the stress of modern living. Emotions and stress are not the only answer, but certainly they must always be given some recognition since they are implicated so often in the structure of physical illnesses. It will come as a surprise to most that asthma, migraine headaches, stomach and duodenal ulcers, ulcerative colitis, arthritis, high blood pressure and imbalance of the endocrine hormone glands system are intimately related to stress and emotion.

A famous Canadian authority on the subject of stress, Dr. Hans Selye, feels that factors other than tension and emotional upsets can be considered as stressful to the body. For example, stress can be caused by infection, injury, severe fatigue, drug reactions,

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The Students for a Democratic Society contain many conflicting elements. There are the admitted small-communists (Michael Klonsky, the national secretary and others in the "Chicago bureaucracy"), the Maoist-Castroites (the Progressive Labor Party adherents), the Trotskyites, the anarchists and the rebels who are still shopping for an ideology. But, sad to say about an organization that professes to have some measure of idealism, however perverted, the SDS also attracts a number of petty thieves.

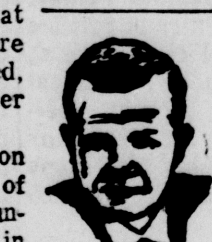

The revolutionary justification for stealing from the files of a professor or a dean is understandable if you believe in the Marxian concept of the class war. When the SDS invaders at Harvard, Columbia or wherever look through desks in search of confidential letters from the CIA to a political science instructor, they can cite N. Lenin's idea of "Morality" as anything that favors the triumph of the proletarian cause. This doesn't mean that the Lenin definition of morality has any ethical validity, but we are talking here about honestly deluded kids.

It could have been honest delusion when a group of SDSers invaded the Maury Hall offices of George Washington University's Sino-Soviet Institute in Washington, D.C., and stole some confidential interviews with Japanese and Taiwan statesmen from the files of Professor Franz Michael. But the search for "compromising" information might have been carried out at the Sino-Soviet Institute without kicking students' theses around the hallways, jeopardizing the full year's work of boys whose political philosophies are quite unknown to the SDS. For all the Sino-Soviet Institute invaders may have known, the students whose work was treated so cavalierly could be SDS sympathizers.

Beyond the SDS contempt for academic work, the raid on George Washington University's Sino-Soviet Institute included behavior that is about as idealistic as simple shoplifting. One professor lost a transistor radio and an electric shaver. Another lost a tennis racket. The invaders took with them two tape recorders, a pen and a manicure compact set in gold-plated case. Stalin, of course, thought nothing of conducting bank robberies when he was an undercover revolutionist, but the stolen funds went to swell the treasury of the Bolshevik party. This was in accordance with Lenin's definition of class morality. But what have electric shavers and manicure compacts to contribute to the SDS cause? Particularly when the boys in the "movement" don't shave anyway, and the girls are about as unchic as they come.

After the robberies at the Sino-Soviet Institute, the SDS had the unmitigated gall or chutzpah to insist that the Maury Hall invaders be tried by a judicial body exclusively composed of students. The George Washington Student Assembly voted 14-10 in favor of a student court. But the victims of petty thieves have their own constitutional rights contemplating the wreckage of their building, complained to justice in accordance with the law of the land. When a person steals a transistor radio, a tennis racket or a manicure compact set, he is guilty of something that transcends the question of academic discipline. He is a crook and should be dealt with like any other crook.

Mike Severeid

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The name is familiar: Severeid. But this one is named Michael and he's an actor, not a news commentator.

He's 29, the twin son of CBS News's Eric Severeid.

These days Mike looks more like 59, but only because of the nature of his first film role. He's playing a marathon dancer in ABC Palomar Productions' "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?"

For the benefit of youthful readers: A marathon dance was a distraction used during the great Depression, to keep folks' minds off breadlines and apple-sellers. It was a torture contest to determine what couple could stay conscious on a dance floor the longest.

"They Shoot Horses, Don't They?" is about such a contest, and among the marathoners are Jane Fonda, Michael Sarrazan, Red Buttons, Susannah York and Michael Severeid.

He's the first in his family to turn to acting. "When you come from a Lutheran Norwegian Midwest background, you don't find many actors in the family," he explained.

Mike Severeid was born in Paris during the fateful year of 1940. His father had been hired by Edward R. Murrow to cover the French side of the war, but the German advance interrupted his assignment. He hurried his wife and infant sons to Geneva, from which they sailed for the United States with 6,000 other escapees from the Hitler invasion.

"My father stayed on to cover the war, and then my mother went to Europe to work for UNRRA," Mike related. "My brother and I were shipped off to live with our grandmother in Minneapolis."

"We never really saw my father until he came home after the war. When he came in the house, I said to him, 'My daddy's coming home soon.' I guess that kind of shook him up."

The reunited family settled near Washington, D.C. where Severeid's career with CBS News continued to flourish. "It was my brother who got me started with acting," said Mike. "He talked me into appearing with him in a prep school production of 'Inherit the Wind.' I was intrigued, but I had more interest in football and track." His brother, Peter, now teaches law in Kenya for the Ford Foundation.

Mike did some plays at Middebury College, then cut out to try his hand at acting in New York.

"That was when Dad had his doubts about my acting, he said."

"He thought I was crazy to leave school, but I was going through a period when I couldn't face it. He was in London then and going through a divorce, and he convinced me to come over there and get into drama school. I think he just wanted to have me nearby."

Mike met an Irish girl who was working for the BBC, married her and returned to New York for another try at acting. He returned to college, then landed with the Minneapolis Theater Company, playing character roles at $85 a week. He left the company at the end of its tour here and within a brief time landed the role in "They Shoot Horses."

He is well-built and brown-haired, with the narrow face and deep-set eyes. A realist, he knows that the Severeid name can open doors for him—"but after that I'm on my own."

The Business World

By PHILIP WECHSLER (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — The American economy is slowly inching its way toward the three-day weekend.

Indicative of the trend, perhaps, are the passage of legislation fixing certain holidays to fall either on Friday or Monday and the beginning by some companies of an abbreviated form of the long weekend.

Reader's Digest began a four-day week for the month of May for its 2,800 workers. "With the institution of this annual four-day-per-week month, we are once again in the forefront of what I am convinced will eventually be a major trend," said DeWitt Wallace, co-chairman of the magazine located in Pleasantville, N.Y.

McDonald's restaurant chain began last week letting its office employees off at 1 p.m. Fridays until the end of the summer for a quicker start on the weekend. And employees, in the Chicago headquarters and six regional offices around the country, showed up for work dressed in sports clothes—on the orders of McDonald's president, Fred L. Turner.

"What's the point in giving everyone Friday afternoon off if they have to spend time getting home and changing clothes?" Turner said. "The summer weekend is a fact of American life and our hours are designed to give our employees a long weekend."

But he pointed out, however, office employees will observe 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. hours during the rest of the week to make up for the short Friday schedule.

Eighteen employees of the Bank of New York's fiduciary data control section also are receiving the dividend of a four-day week, although a bank spokesman emphasized they work the normal 35-hour week.

The spokesman explained the experiment began because most of the work in the section does not come into the office until after noon. Previously this resulted in a substantial amount of overtime. Now the employees work from noon to 9:45 p.m. and are scheduled so that the office is manned Monday through Friday.

Agreeing with the principle of a three-day weekend is Edward Cleary, president of a New York City electrical union local whose 10,000 members in the construction field are believed to have the shortest work day in the nation—five hours.

"With the work force growing each year and technological advances replacing more workers, the shorter work week is an economic necessity," says Cleary. Some experts, however, foresee in 10 to 20 years adoption of a shorter work day or some other form of abbreviated schedule before the three-day weekend.

Phyllis Moerhle of the National Association of Manufacturers believes the American worker will have longer vacations, more holidays, earlier retirement and the shorter work day.

Mrs. Moerhle, director of the NAM's Institute on Industrial Relations, says "perhaps by the end of the century" the four-day week may be a reality.

The NAM states: "If we are to have a simultaneous increase in leisure and in standard of living, the two together cannot exceed the gain in productivity, which in the past has been at an average rate of about 2 1/2 percent per year. If we are to have both, both must occur at a very gradual pace."

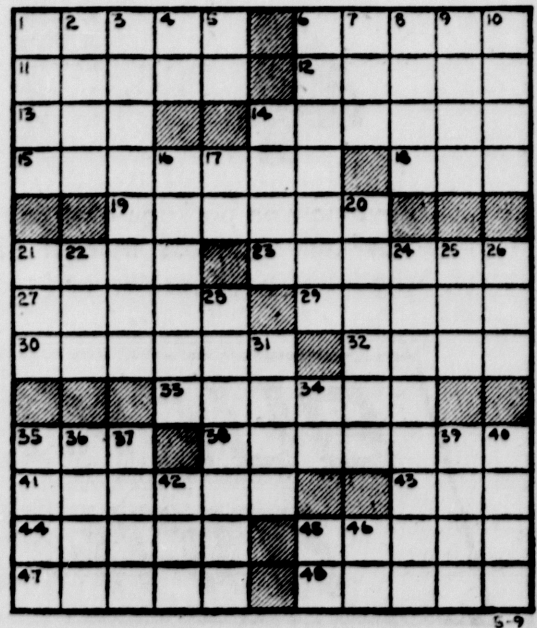

"Thus it would appear that any abrupt, drastic and widespread reduction of the work week is ruled out."

Santa Sophia, the great mosque in Constantinople, was built in the 6th century as a Christian cathedral and dedicated not to any saint named Sophia but to that quality of the divine Trinity called Hagia Sophia (Sacred Wisdom).

Crank's Calls Upset Mother

DEAR ABBY: After putting my husband (whom I'll call "Jim") thru medical school and internship, we separated because of a girl I'll call "Nancy." Jim married her as soon as the ink was dry on the divorce papers. We have three beautiful school-age children, whom I've done my best to raise without a father. Jim has helped some financially, but not a whole lot.

I have never bothered Jim and Nancy in any way. My problem is that Nancy keeps phoning me, identifying herself as a friend of Nancy's but I know her voice. She warns me that Nancy is going to kill my children when they're away at camp this summer.

I have told Jim about this, and he doesn't seem worried. I must admit, I am frightened, but if Jim isn't worried, should I be?

Do you think I ought to send the children to summer camp as planned?

CHARLESTON, S.C. — DEAR CHARLESTON: The police and phone company will cooperate with you in getting positive proof that these calls are from Nancy—if indeed they are. You will need this before proceeding. After you have proof, put it up to Jim. If he continues unworried, and will do nothing to stop the harassment, then ask the authorities to intervene.

DEAR ABBY: I am presently living in an old folks' home.

There is a gentleman here who I love a lot. He can't hear, so I can't tell him. He can't see, so I can't write him. What can I do?

ELLEN — DEAR ELLEN: What can HE do?

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have gone steady with this guy I'll call Jeff, for nearly a year. We are very much in love and now I think I'm pregnant. I am not positive because I haven't been to a doctor yet, but I'm almost sure I am.

Jeff says he will marry me as soon as we graduate from high school. (We're both juniors.) Ever since I told Jeff that I think I'm pregnant I have begun to doubt his love. He says if I am pregnant, when I tell my folks I should put the blame on some imaginary person so as not to cause hard feelings between him and my folks. That way it will be easier for us to continue our relationship.

Jeff says he really loves me but he's looking out for what is best for us. What do you think?

WONDERING — DEAR WONDERING: I think you'd better see a doctor, and if your suspicions are confirmed, tell Jeff that you are going to tell your parents the whole truth. And whether you are pregnant or not, do yourself a big favor and forget that little weasel.

DEAR ABBY: I have a younger brother who from a very early age showed an interest in "girlish" things. When Mother taught us girls to knit, my brother pleaded to learn, too, but Mother turned him away, saying, "Boys don't do such things."

My brother finally went his way—or so we thought. Later he came to us with some tiny garments which he had knitted for our dolls. They were beautiful! He told us that he had used TOOTHPICKS because Mother wouldn't let him use her knitting needles.

Today my brother is an embittered alcoholic. Had he been allowed to develop an obvious talent instead of being shamed and brutally discouraged, he might have been a happy contributor in some creative field.

Do we fault gifted designers, or interior decorators or hair stylists who have effeminate ways?

Why warp the productivity of a human being who happens to be "different" for reasons over which they have no control?

Society would be much better off accepting those talented men with "girlish ways" than to encourage manly misfits.

The rest of the projects were minor repair and interstate building removal programs.

Ancient Indian Village Yields Interesting Facts On Culture

ROSSFORD, Ohio (AP) — An ancient Indian village unearthed by accident two years ago is yielding interesting facts on Indian culture of perhaps 1,000 years ago.

Radioactive tests are underway to determine the time when Indians occupied the site. Samples tested so far indicated the area was used around 710 A. D. to 890 A. D.

An elementary school is under construction on the site of the ancient village and burial grounds.

"If the third sample from the Indian Hills site is found to date about the same period as the first two," said anthropologist Earl J. Pahl, "We then will have a cluster of dates giving strong evidence of the date of occupation of the site."

At one point, excavators located skeletons of more than 35 Indians deposited in a common grave, apparently long after death.

They suggested this indicated a belief that tribal relationships continued after death and that a "day of the dead" was held, perhaps annually, by a tribe to bury its dead in a mass ceremony.

Excavations at another site near Port Clinton last summer turned up individual supine burials, indicating a sharp difference in funeral customs between the two villages.

The site of the village near Rossford was found by accident in June, 1967, when evidence of a large Indian stockade and skeletons was discovered between double walls.

Its discovery yielded a number of projectile points, pottery shards, polished stone ax heads, fragments of pipes and a quantity of bones of fish and small animals.

The findings will be compared with signs of other Indian cultures along the southern coast of Lake Erie.

"We're just beginning to study the physical evidence of northwestern Ohio's first settlers," Pahl said.

McCarthy's Son Asks Deferment From All Wars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 18-year-old son of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says he has asked his Washington, D.C., draft board for deferment as a conscientious objector.

Michael Benet McCarthy also told the Washington Post his father did not approve the decision 100 per cent. The youth said he requested the change April 10, five days after his 18th birthday.

"He doesn't agree with my position," Michael said, referring to his father. "He's not a pacifist. But he says I should go ahead if I believe I'm right."

McCarthy said he would not enter military service even if his request were denied.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Crank's Calls Upset Mother

DEAR ABBY: After putting my husband (whom I'll call "Jim") thru medical school and internship, we separated because of a girl I'll call "Nancy." Jim married her as soon as the ink was dry on the divorce papers. We have three beautiful school-age children, whom I've done my best to raise without a father. Jim has helped some financially, but not a whole lot.

I have never bothered Jim and Nancy in any way. My problem is that Nancy keeps phoning me, identifying herself as a friend of Nancy's but I know her voice. She warns me that Nancy is going to kill my children when they're away at camp this summer.

I have told Jim about this, and he doesn't seem worried. I must admit, I am frightened, but if Jim isn't worried, should I be?

Do you think I ought to send the children to summer camp as planned?

CHARLESTON, S.C. — DEAR CHARLESTON: The police and phone company will cooperate with you in getting positive proof that these calls are from Nancy—if indeed they are. You will need this before proceeding. After you have proof, put it up to Jim. If he continues unworried, and will do nothing to stop the harassment, then ask the authorities to intervene.

DEAR ABBY: I am presently living in an old folks' home.

There is a gentleman here who I love a lot. He can't hear, so I can't tell him. He can't see, so I can't write him. What can I do?

ELLEN — DEAR ELLEN: What can HE do?

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have gone steady with this guy I'll call Jeff, for nearly a year. We are very much in love and now I think I'm pregnant. I am not positive because I haven't been to a doctor yet, but I'm almost sure I am.

Jeff says he will marry me as soon as we graduate from high school. (We're both juniors.) Ever since I told Jeff that I think I'm pregnant I have begun to doubt his love. He says if I am pregnant, when I tell my folks I should put the blame on some imaginary person so as not to cause hard feelings between him and my folks. That way it will be easier for us to continue our relationship.

Jeff says he really loves me but he's looking out for what is best for us. What do you think?

WONDERING — DEAR WONDERING: I think you'd better see a doctor, and if your suspicions are confirmed, tell Jeff that you are going to tell your parents the whole truth. And whether you are pregnant or not, do yourself a big favor and forget that little weasel.

DEAR ABBY: I have a younger brother who from a very early age showed an interest in "girlish" things. When Mother taught us girls to knit, my brother pleaded to learn, too, but Mother turned him away, saying, "Boys don't do such things."

My brother finally went his way—or so we thought. Later he came to us with some tin garments which he had knitted for our dolls. They were beautiful! He told us that he had used TOOTHPICKS because Mother wouldn't let him use her knitting needles.

Today my brother is an embittered alcoholic. Had he been allowed to develop an obvious talent instead of being shamed and brutally discouraged, he might have been a happy contributor in some creative field.

Do we fault gifted designers, or interior decorators or hair stylists who have effeminate ways?

Why warp the productivity of a human being who happens to be "different" for reasons over which they have no control?

Society would be much better off accepting those talented men with "girlish ways" than to encourage manly misfits.

The rest of the projects were minor repair and interstate building removal programs.

Ancient Indian Village Yields Interesting Facts On Culture

ROSSFORD, Ohio (AP)—An ancient Indian village unearthed by accident two years ago is yielding interesting facts on Indian culture of perhaps 1,000 years ago.

Radioactive tests are underway to determine the time when Indians occupied the site. Samples tested so far indicated the area was used around 710 A. D. to 890 A. D.

An elementary school is under construction on the site of the ancient village and burial grounds.

"If the third sample from the Indian Hills site is found to date about the same period as the first two," said anthropologist Earl J. Prahl, "We then will have a cluster of dates giving strong evidence of the date of occupation of the site."

At one point, excavators located skeletons of more than 35 Indians deposited in a common grave, apparently long after death.

They suggested this indicated a belief that tribal relationships continued after death and that a "day of the dead" was held, perhaps annually, by a tribe to bury its dead in a mass ceremony.

Excavations at another site near Port Clinton last summer turned up individual supine burials, indicating a sharp difference in funeral customs between the two villages.

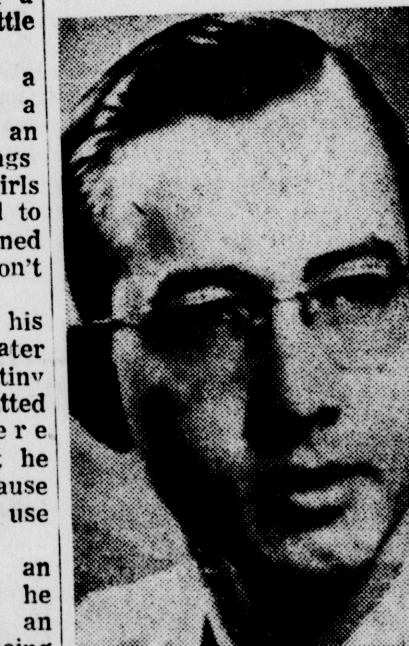

The site of the village near Rossford was found by accident in June, 1967, when evidence of a large Indian stockade and skeletons was discovered between double walls.

Its discovery yielded a number of projectile points, pottery shards, polished stone ax heads, fragments of pipes and a quantity of bones of fish and small animals.

The findings will be compared with signs of other Indian cultures along the southern coast of Lake Erie.

"We're just beginning to study the physical evidence of northwestern Ohio's first settlers," Prahl said.

Wedding Bells Ring For Lana Turner — Again

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Lana Turner, a movie glamour queen of the 1940s, early today married night club hypnotist Dr. Ronald Dante.

The marriage was the seventh for Miss Turner, 49, and Dante's second. Miss Turner's previous husbands were bandleader Artie Shaw, restaurant owner Stephen Crane, Bob Topping, actor Lex Barker, sportsman Fred May and businessman Robert Eaton. Hollywood's original sweater girl had been dating Dante, 49, for about three months, a spokesman said.

Halt Counting Of Signatures

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Counting of signatures on petitions to force a vote on the Cuyahoga County piggyback sales tax has been prohibited until the Ohio Supreme Court holds a hearing next Thursday on a suit filed by the county prosecutor.

Chief Justice Kingsley Taft granted a temporary writ of prohibition Thursday restraining County Auditor Ralph J. Perk and the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections from counting the 76,000 signatures on petitions to force a referendum on the one-half of one per cent tax scheduled to take effect June 1.

The action was taken in a suit brought by County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan, who claimed that more than 80 per cent of the petition signers did not include their ward or precinct.

Plan Ceremony To Recall Driving Of 'Golden Spike'

By JERRY BROWN
Associated Press Writer

PROMONTORY, Utah (AP) — The re-enactment of the driving of the golden spike that linked the first transcontinental railroad will highlight the 100th anniversary of the event Saturday.

The original golden spike was tapped in on May 10, 1869, marking completion of a rail line from Omaha to Sacramento. Saturday's ceremony will be on the same spot.

The original linkup climaxed seven years of bitter rivalry between the participating railroads—the Union Pacific, which had built westward, and the Central Pacific, which had built eastward.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe will deliver the principal address Saturday and dedicate a visitors center.

The re-enactment of the original ceremony will feature area residents as actors, many of them descendants of persons who helped complete the original set of tracks.

The original golden spike was brought to Utah last month from the Stanford University Museum and has been on display at the state Capitol.

Replicas of the steam engines used in the time of the first linkup will be used in the ceremony. Special train exhibits and rides have been set up, and a railroad symposium was held at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City.

Officials are hoping to have better luck with the centennial celebration than did their 1869 counterparts. The original ceremony was delayed two days because one official was kidnapped by workmen and held hostage until they were paid back wages.

Officials 100 years ago predicted 30,000 would watch the linkup. About 500 showed up. Centennial officials are hoping for 10,000 spectators.

Lorain School Fire Deliberately Set

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—A fire Tuesday which caused $500,000 damage at the combined Clearview junior and senior high schools apparently was deliberately set, Lorain County Sheriff Vernon M. Smith said Thursday.

Mervin Billman, an assistant state fire marshal, said several pupils at the schools were questioned, but that none was connected with the fire. "They're just trying to help us," he said.

Plan Ceremony To Recall Driving Of 'Golden Spike'

By JERRY BROWN
Associated Press Writer
PROMONTORY, Utah (AP) — The re-enactment of the driving of the golden spike that linked the first transcontinental railroad will highlight the 100th anniversary of the event Saturday.

The original golden spike was tapped in on May 10, 1869, marking completion of a rail line from Omaha to Sacramento. Saturday's ceremony will be on the same spot.

The original linkup climaxed seven years of bitter rivalry between the participating railroads—the Union Pacific, which had built westward, and the Central Pacific, which had built eastward.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe will deliver the principal address Saturday and dedicate a visitors center.

The re-enactment of the original ceremony will feature area residents as actors, many of them descendants of persons who helped complete the original set of tracks.

The original golden spike was brought to Utah last month from the Stanford University Museum and has been on display at the state Capitol.

Replicas of the steam engines used in the time of the first linkup will be used in the ceremony. Special train exhibits and rides have been set up, and a railroad symposium was held at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City.

Officials are hoping to have better luck with the centennial celebration than did their 1869 counterparts. The original ceremony was delayed two days because one official was kidnapped by workmen and held hostage until they were paid back wages.

Officials 100 years ago predicted 30,000 would watch the linkup. About 500 showed up. Centennial officials are hoping for 10,000 spectators.

Lorain School Fire
Deliberately Set

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—A fire Tuesday which caused $500,000 damage at the combined Clearview junior and senior high schools apparently was deliberately set, Lorain County Sheriff Vernon M. Smith said Thursday.

Mervin Billman, an assistant state fire marshal, said several pupils at the schools were questioned, but that none was connected with the fire. "They're just trying to help us," he said.

Defense Chiefs Seek Delay In Arms Talks With Soviets

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Joint Chiefs of Staff reportedly are trying to convince the Nixon administration to delay U.S.-Soviet arms talks to allow testing this summer of a new missile weapons system. The military leaders are said to be concerned that starting the talks earlier would prevent testing the Multiple Independent Targeted Re-entry Vehicles—MIRVs—and put the United States behind the Soviets in deployment of the multiwarhead system. Supporters of an early start to the disarmament talks are said by government sources to feel that a delay might dim Soviet interest in an arms agreement because of Moscow's fear of losing ground to the United States in development of MIRVs.

Defense experts feel the United States is ahead in developing MIRVs at this time.

Such a weapons system is considered the next significant step in the arms race. MIRVs involve equipping existing missiles with several nuclear warheads that can be fired at several targets or used as scatter decoys to confuse enemy radar.

In fact, many of those involved in the current debate over the Safeguard antiballistic missile system feel MIRVs would provide an even greater threat to the world's nuclear strategic balance than the ABM.

As one Safeguard opponent put it, if the ABM as planned is susceptible to being flooded by a massive Soviet missile attack, it would be even more susceptible if the missiles were equipped with MIRVs.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers' public position on the start of arms talks is that they will take place probably in the latter half of June.

An indication the Soviets may be interested in early arms talks was seen in the announcement Thursday by the official Soviet news agency Tass that nuclear nonproliferation treaty, ratified by the U.S. Senate in March, had been submitted to the Soviet parliament.

Marietta College Boycott Is Planned

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — Marietta College students planned to start a boycott of classes and school activities today in a dispute over dismissal of the newly elected student body president.

The Student Senate approved Thursday night the action to protest the dismissal of Earl Maiman. School administrators said Maiman was dismissed from the post for allegedly making "inflammatory" remarks at a discussion session with top college officials.

Chlorine Gas Leak Hits 35 Persons

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "Our luckiest break is that it started to rain afterwards," Utilities Director Ben S. Stefanski II said after 35 persons were treated for inhalation of chlorine gas which leaked from a filtration plant late Thursday.

Six persons were hospitalized as a result of the leakage at the chemical house of the Baldwin Filtration Plant on the East Side. All inhalation victims were residents of Woodstock Avenue, which faces the chemical house.

Police and firemen wearing oxygen masks helped alert area residents to the danger. About 75 persons evacuated the area, some after they recognized the smell of the potentially dead gas, which swept down the street in a yellow cloud about 5 p.m.

Hospitalized were Richard Ranelli, 29, his wife, Sandra, 26, and their three children, Tracy, 3, Suzanne, 2 and Christopher, 1, and Angelo Viliotte, All were reported in good condition.

Stefanski said the cause of the gas leakage was under investigation. A filtration plant employee said a gasket ruptured on a fitting leading to the chlorine storage area and that he tried to shut off the leak after donning a gas mask.

The employee said the leak occurred shortly after a power cutoff, due to high winds and thunderstorms.

Election Law Section Voided

CINCINNATI (AP) — Judge John Keefe of the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court labeled as unconstitutional Wednesday a section of the state's election law that requires every petition signer to list his ward and precinct.

"It seems unreasonable to require every voter who desires to sign a referendum petition to know his ward and precinct. Most electors do not . . . I find it unconstitutional."

The criticism came shortly after, and aside from, his issuing a permanent injunction against 462 Springfield township residents opposed to a developer's building an $8 million, 462-townhouse complex.

Ryan To Resign Diocesan Post

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carl J. Ryan plans to step down as superintendent of the Cincinnati archdiocesan Roman Catholic schools on May 31—a position he has held for 37 years.

"It's just age and impaired health," the 76-year-old priest said Thursday.

Archdiocesan leaders said a successor would be named shortly for the parochial system of 90,000 students.

Some New, Lots Old In VC Plan

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

There is a hint of something new and there is a great deal that is old about the Viet Cong's peace proposals at the Paris talks.

The 10-point plan the National Liberation Front presented Thursday is largely a repetition of its widely advertised 1967 "political program." That program was a long elaboration of the original four points from Hanoi and five points from the NLF. The new presentation at Paris, however, hints that aspects of it may be considered negotiable and that the Communist side is getting into position for hard bargaining. That would be progress of a sort.

The Front's proposal is not a retreat, however. Practically every word in the 10-point proposal can be found in the 1967 "political program," which was announced after what the Viet Cong called an "extraordinary congress" of the NLF.

At that time the NLF made clear that its program could not become operable until after the withdrawal of all foreign troops and bases. The current 10-point program says the same thing.

The new pronouncement says the Viet Cong would welcome all political forces that "stand for peace, independence and neutrality, including those persons who, for political reasons, have to live abroad." The 1967 program said the same thing, although it excluded those who "cooperate with the U.S. imperialists and their henchmen."

The new call for withdrawal of troops makes it clear that the only foreign troops are those of the United States and its allies. North Vietnam is not considered foreign.

The 1967 program contained, in great detail, all that is now contained in briefer form in the "10 points." This included the offer of diplomatic relations with all nations, acceptance of economic aid from any without political strings, reunification of the two Vietnams "by peaceful means," normal relations between the two pending reunification, and all the rest, including the promises of free press, freedom of religion and conscience.

The 1967 program, like the present one, promised an independent, democratic and neutral South Vietnam with "a broad and progressive democratic regime." It promised free and democratic elections in South Vietnam, a constituent assembly and a new constitution.

What, then, is new about the 10-point program? Most of all, it is the fact that it has been laid on the table at Paris. One assumption might be that it is offered as a basis of discussion rather than a set of minimum demands. If that is so, it is possible for the talk to become negotiations.

Nixon Owns Cemetery At Lancaster

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — President Nixon owns one acre of land in Ohio.

He probably doesn't know it. The land has been held in trust for him since 1817.

It is a cemetery. Nathaniel Wilson III, who inherited his father's farm west of Lancaster in 1815, set aside the acre of land as a burial ground.

To insure that it remain free from desecration, Wilson, on April 22, 1817, deeded it to James Monroe, then president of the United States, and to his successors in office, to be held in trust forever.

Wilson's will provides that any president so desiring may be buried in the plot as well as members of his immediate family.

Nixon's father was born in Ohio but moved to California where the president was born.

Navy Has New Openings For Enlistments

Although in the recent past the United States Navy recruitment has been limited to openings, the situation has changed and the Navy now offers enlistments for practically all interested young men.

This includes young men who have applied previously but were refused enlistment due to the then existing limitations. According to the recruiting officer for central and southern Ohio, this situation as to enlistment availability will remain until at least the end of this summer or longer. In addition to these openings, the Navy will now accept 17-year-old enlistees, even if they have not completed high school.

The Navy desires that young men who do contemplate joining the Naval service remain in school and to obtain their diploma, but if this is not possible they may enlist with their parents consent. Interested men between the ages of 17 and 31 should contact the Navy recruiting station in the Lancaster Post Office for further details. Call 653-9445 for an appointment to fit your schedule. The Navy recruiter, Chief Dick Kendig, is in the Circleville Post Office, on Thursdays, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Ketterer Heads OSU Trustees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John G. Ketterer of North Canton Thursday was elected chairman of the Ohio State University board of trustees.

An attorney and member of the board since 1963, Ketterer succeeds John W. Bricker, former governor and U. S. senator, whose term on the board ends next Monday.

Bricker has said he will not seek reappointment, but will serve until another trustee is appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Alan Shepard Fit For Flight, Medics Say; 1st Space Flier

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Alan B. Shepard Jr., the first American rocketed into space, has returned to the ranks of the active astronauts six years after an ear ailment clipped his wings and landed him behind a desk.

Shepard, 45, was declared healthy and ready to fly Wednesday by flight surgeons at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center.

His return to flight status came eight years and two days after the lean Navy captain led America into the manned space flight era with a 15-minute trip aloft on May 5, 1961.

In the Mercury capsule "Freedom 7" he soared to more than 100 miles in a suborbital flight. Shepard later referred to it as America's "first baby step" in manned space flight.

Shepard got the call to command the first Gemini flight, but he suddenly found he was unable even to fly solo in a small airplane. He had contracted an inner ear disorder called labyrinthitis. The disorder, attributed to an infection, caused dizziness and nausea and

Shepard was grounded by flight surgeons.

Shepard took annual checkups and kept in shape.

He took over a desk job as chief of the astronaut office, guiding the astronaut training program.

Last May he underwent surgery on the bothersome ear. After a year of healing he has been declared flight-fit once more.

Shepard is one of the original seven American astronauts named in April of 1959. Only he and Air Force Col. L. Gordon Cooper are still on active space duty. Of the others in the original seven, John Glenn, Scott Carpenter and Walter M. Schirra Jr. have resigned from the space program.

Virgil I. Grissom died in a 1967 fire during a spacecraft ground test.

Donald K. Slayton, the only one of the seven who has never flown into space, is grounded with a heart ailment and is head of the flight crew operations division here.

Just For You

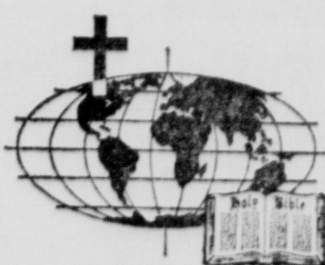

Who doesn't like to be remembered? It's natural to feel a certain glow when you receive a greeting card. It means that someone has thought of you, that someone cares.

Yet how foolish it would be for any of us to ever believe that we are alone or friendless. There is always Someone who cares, who cares very deeply . . . who cared enough to sacrifice His only Son for us.

At times we are all lonesome. Yet we are never really alone. There are few places in the world where we cannot, if we but look, find a church that will welcome us wholeheartedly. God's house is not like other houses. There is always room in it for one more. And when that one more has entered, there is room for yet another.

Start taking part in the life of the Church today!

Alan Shepard Fit For Flight, Medics Say; 1st Space Flier

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Alan B. Shepard Jr., the first American rocketed into space, has returned to the ranks of the active astronauts six years after an ear ailment clipped his wings and landed him behind a desk.

Shepard, 45, was declared healthy and ready to fly Wednesday by flight surgeons at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center.

His return to flight status came eight years and two days after the lean Navy captain led America into the manned space flight era with a 15-minute trip aloft on May 5, 1961.

In the Mercury capsule "Freedom 7" he soared to more than 100 miles in a suborbital flight. Shepard later referred to it as America's "first baby step" in manned space flight.

Shepard got the call to command the first Gemini flight, but he suddenly found he was unable even to fly solo in a small airplane. He had contracted an inner ear disorder called labyrinthitis. The disorder, attributed to an infection, caused dizziness and nausea and

Shepard was grounded by flight surgeons.

Shepard took annual checkups and kept in shape.

He took over a desk job as chief of the astronaut office, guiding the astronaut training program.

Last May he underwent surgery on the bothersome ear. After a year of healing he has been declared flight-fit once more.

Shepard is one of the original seven American astronauts named in April of 1959. Only he and Air Force Col. L. Gordon Cooper are still on active space duty. Of the others in the original seven, John Glenn, Scott Carpenter and Walter M. Schirra Jr. have resigned from the space program.

Virgil I. Grissom died in a 1967 fire during a spacecraft ground test.

Donald K. Slayton, the only one of the seven who has never flown into space, is grounded with a heart ailment and is head of the flight crew operations division here.

Who doesn't like to be remembered? It's natural to feel a certain glow when you receive a greeting card. It means that someone has thought of you, that someone cares.

Yet how foolish it would be for any of us to ever believe that we are alone or friendless. There is always Someone who cares, who cares very deeply . . . who cared enough to sacrifice His only Son for us.

At times we are all lonesome. Yet we are never really alone. There are few places in the world where we cannot, if we but look, find a church that will welcome us wholeheartedly. God's house is not like other houses. There is always room in it for one more. And when that one more has entered, there is room for yet another.

Start taking part in the life of the Church today!

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-7831

Rural Life Sunday, which was scheduled for May 18 at Scioto Valley Grange with Nebraska Grange as guests has been cancelled. It is hoped to have this event at a later date.

Several members of the Zion United Methodist Church Friendship Circle met at the church last Thursday evening and from there, traveled to the new country home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moss for a housewarming.

Those enjoying the pot-luck later in the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Canter, Mrs. Herbert Seymour, Mrs. Maggie Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook and Marla, Tami Franks, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Cook and Stephen Ray, the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Moss and their daughter Mrs. James McCord.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance made the following runs this week: May 4 moved Anna Weaver from Doctors Hospital, West, in Columbus to the Monterey Nursing Home in Grove City; May 6 returned Mrs. George Fry to her home from Doctors Hospital, Columbus.

Past, present and future exchange students were the honored guests at the April 29 meeting of the Ashville Kiwanis Club. Also present was Mrs. Phoebe Engle, the sponsor of the exchange student program at Teays Valley High School.

Those guests attending were Cecilia Behr, the present exchange student from Ecuador, Rita Scheibeck who spent several weeks last summer in Colombia, Sue Courtright and Gary Tosca, past exchange students and Elaine Campbell, who is preparing to go to Ecuador next summer.

Also present was Brenda

Oldsters Invited To Conference

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Do you know anyone 100 years of age or older?

If so, tell them they're invited to attend the Governor's Conference on Aging here June 4-5.

There are an estimated 500 centenarians in Ohio, "but we don't know who they are or where they are," says Rose Papier, coordinator of the Ohio Administration of Aging.

The administration wants to honor the senior citizens. Those attending the conference will receive a certificate from Gov. James A. Rhodes and those who can't make it will be mailed certificates.

Pobst, in whose home Miss Behr is now staying. Brenda told of the rewarding experience of having an exchange student as a guest. Rita Scheibeck showed slides of her trip and all guests gave a few brief remarks.

The local Kiwanis Club is partial sponsor of the exchange program which is quite worthwhile. It has been learned by the club that John Little and Paul Hickman of the Cardinal Food Market have made it possible for a second student to visit another country this year.

The annual election of officers for the club will be held at the May 6 meeting.

President Steve Cook has asked that all committee chairmen have their half-year reports ready as soon as possible.

The annual Athletic-Honor Banquet for Junior High Students at Ashville School will be held on Saturday evening May 17. The event sponsored each year by the PTA will begin with a carry-in dinner at 6:30 p.m. Each family attending is asked to bring a well filled basket which includes a meat dish. Rolls and beverages will be furnished. The table service will be furnished for the honored guests only.

Following the program and presentation of awards, a dance will be held for Junior High and Elementary students only.

Mrs. Winnie Morrison was discharged Thursday from Mercy Hospital where she had been a surgical patient. She is now convalescing at the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary Rohr, 1450 Brice Road, Reynoldsburg (43068). Winnie will be celebrating her birthday on May 9.

Richard Guthell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guthell, is a patient in Mt. Carmel Hospital where he is recovering from burns suffered recently. Richard was burned by scalding water while working on the motor of a transit bus. He is expected to be returned to his home next week.

Results of the Tuesday Morning Housewives Bowling League were: high game, Ruth Mitchum, 202; High series, Cathy Holley, 533; High team, game, Toole's Electric, 675. Burton's Jewelers 1886 had the high team series.

Standings at the end of the season were: Morrison's Market, first; Burton's Jewelers, second; Lou Deal's Flowers, third; Katy Gay had the high game for the season of 233 and Jill Roese had the high series of 585.

Tear Gas Is Used Against Riotous Howard U Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 200 riot police made a tear gas attack on a Howard University dormitory housing about 1,000 students early today after federal marshals clearing six buildings occupied by militants came under a heavy barrage of rocks and other debris.

About 100 marshals had entered the campus a few hours earlier acting under a court order to clear the buildings seized earlier in the week.

At first the marshals, wearing helmets and carrying night sticks met little resistance, but as they moved from building to building, they were hit by rocks, cans and broken bricks thrown by persons hiding on building tops.

Washington Deputy Police Chief Jerry Wilson said about 60 arrests had been made, all but one by the marshals. He said the city police's Civil Disturbance Unit had been stationed near the campus and moved onto the school grounds at the request of the federal officers.

"The marshals were getting stoned and they needed help. They asked us for it," he said.

The police marched in ranks of two up to the front of Cook

Hall, a sophomore dormitory just outside the main campus where several students chased from the occupied buildings had hidden. When they reached the front of the four-story building they were greeted by a heavy rain of rocks and other debris.

After about 10 minutes, police officers ordered tear gas rockets fired into the building. Six rockets were fired and the rock throwing soon stopped.

At that point Wilson ordered his men away from the dormitory and back to their buses, about two blocks away.

Although many policemen and marshals were hit in the barrage of rocks, only one person was injured seriously enough to require hospitalization—a marshal who suffered a deep gash on his leg.

Wilson told newsmen he ordered his men away from the campus after the tear gas attack because "they aren't throwing rocks any longer. We won. As long as rocks aren't being thrown and order is being maintained there is no reason to stay here."

Late Thursday night, Mayor Walter Washington alerted about 800 National Guard troops and had them report to the District of Columbia Armory as "a precautionary measure." The soldiers were not used in the clearing action of the predominantly Negro school.

Israel Adds Troop Units To Border With Lebanon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Premier Golda Meir says Israeli villages along the "danger border" with Lebanon will be strengthened in case Arab guerrillas win their struggle to use Lebanon as a staging area for attacks on Israel.

"I do not know what will happen in Lebanon, whose hand will be on top—the terrorists or the army," she told labor leaders in Tel Aviv Wednesday. "But the Lebanese border is the new danger border for us."

"We have villages there and we must look after them and see they are properly defended."

The political and military crisis in Lebanon deteriorated further Wednesday when about 2,000 Arab guerrillas besieged the Lebanese village of Hasbaya near the Israeli frontier. The Beirut government charged that the assault was directed by Al Saika—Thunderbolt—an Arab commando organization affili-ed with Syria's ruling Baath party. Al Saika denied the charge and called the Lebanese army to join it in an investigation.

The largest of the Palestinian guerrilla organizations, Al Fatah, added to the tension in Lebanon with a charge that Lebanese troops shot five Al Fatah commandos who were en route to Israel on a sabotage mission. Lebanese military officials denied the charge.

Thousands of Palestinians living in refugee camps in Lebanon pay allegiance to Al Fatah, and there was speculation that the guerrilla organization would order them into the streets. Demonstrations by refugees in support of the guerrillas two weeks ago touched off clashes with Lebanese troops which resulted in the death of 18 persons and the resignation of Premier Rashid Karami.

DDT In Lakes Poses Problem

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A U.S. Bureau of Fisheries official says DDT is a very real problem in Lake Michigan and could be a problem in Lake Erie in the future.

"Many fish in Lake Michigan will be unfit for human consumption in just a few years time," Dr. Herb Allen of Ann Arbor, Mich., told a special symposium on Lake Erie Wednesday.

He said DDT is not a big problem yet in Lake Erie. Several Coho salmon caught in Lake Erie three days ago were analyzed, and DDT traces were found to be well within the allowable limit for human consumption, Dr. Allen said.

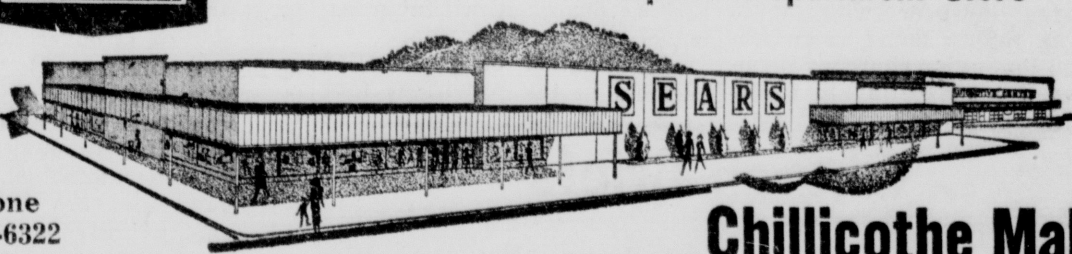

Firm Offers To Buy Port Clinton Bank

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An offer to acquire American Bank of Port Clinton has been made by Society Corp., a Cleveland-based registered bank holding company.

Walter F. Lineberger Jr., president of Society Corp., and American Bank President Andrew C. Lausten said Thursday that Society has offered to purchase all 40,000 outstanding shares of the Port Clinton bank at $65 cash per share.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-7831

Rural Life Sunday, which was scheduled for May 18 at Scioto Valley Grange with Nebraska Grange as guests has been cancelled. It is hoped to have this event at a later date.

Several members of the Zion United Methodist Church Friendship Circle met at the church last Thursday evening and from there, traveled to the new country home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moss for a housewarming.

Those enjoying the pot-luck later in the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Canter, Mrs. Herbert Seymour, Mrs. Maggie Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook and Maria, Tami Franks, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Cook and Stephen Ray, the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Moss and their daughter Mrs. James McCord.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance made the following runs this week: May 4 moved Anna Weaver from Doctors Hospital, West, in Columbus to the Monterey Nursing Home in Grove City; May 6 returned Mrs. George Fry to her home from Doctors Hospital, Columbus.

Past, present and future exchange students were the honored guests at the April 29 meeting of the Ashville Kiwanis Club. Also present was Mrs. Phoebe Engle, the sponsor of the exchange student program at Teays Valley High School.

Those guests attending were Cecilia Behr, the present exchange student from Ecuador, Rita Scheibeck who spent several weeks last summer in Colombia, Sue Courtwright and Gary Tosca, past exchange students and Elaine Campbell, who is preparing to go to Ecuador next summer.

Also present was Brenda

Pobst, in whose home Miss Behr is now staying. Brenda told of the rewarding experience of having an exchange student as a guest. Rita Scheibeck showed slides of her trip and all guests gave a few brief remarks.

The local Kiwanis Club is partial sponsor of the exchange program which is quite worthwhile. It has been learned by the club that John Little and Paul Hickman of the Cardinal Food Market have made it possible for a second student to visit another country this year.

The annual election of officers for the club will be held at the May 6 meeting.

President Steve Cook has asked that all committee chairmen have their half-year reports ready as soon as possible.

The annual Athletic-Honor Banquet for Junior High Students at Ashville School will be held on Saturday evening May 17. The event sponsored each year by the PTA will begin with a carry-in dinner at 6:30 p.m. Each family attending is asked to bring a well filled basket which includes a meat dish. Rolls and beverages will be furnished. The table service will be furnished for the honored guests only.

Following the program and presentation of awards, a dance will be held for Junior High and Elementary students only.

Mrs. Winnie Morrison was discharged Thursday from Mercy Hospital where she had been a surgical patient. She is now convalescing at the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary Rohr, 1450 Brice Road, Reynoldsburg (43068). Winnie will be celebrating her birthday on May 9.

Richard Guthell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guthell, is a patient in Mt. Carmel Hospital where he is recovering from burns suffered recently. Richard was burned by scalding water while working on the motor of a transit bus. He is expected to be returned to his home next week.

Results of the Tuesday Morning Housewives Bowling League were: high game, Ruth Mitchum, 202; High series, Cathy Holley, 533; High team, game, Toole's Electric, 675; Burton's Jewelers 1886 had the high team series.

Standings at the end of the season were: Morrison's Market, first; Burton's Jewelers, second; Lou Deal's Flowers, third; Katy Gay had the high game for the season of 233 and Jill Reese had the high series of 585.

Tear Gas Is Used Against Riotous Howard U Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 200 riot police made a tear gas attack on a Howard University dormitory housing about 1,000 students early today after federal marshals clearing six buildings occupied by militants came under a heavy barrage of rocks and other debris. About 100 marshals had entered the campus a few hours earlier acting under a court or-

Churches Lean To Tax Payment

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Does your teacher pay the tax?" state revenue collectors inquired about Jesus, as related in Matthew 17:24. And they got a firm reply from the apostle Peter. "Yes."

In contrast, the American churches which perpetuate that ministry have always been free of the levies exacted by the government, as have other charitable service organizations.

Today, however, with moves for tax reform going on in Congress, the major churches themselves are suggesting that certain aspects of their affairs be subjected to the tax bite.

Their growing consensus that they should give up some of their tax immunities was crystallized last week in a joint statement by both the National Council of Churches and the U.S. Catholic Conference.

In a message to the House Ways and Means Committee, they recommended:

—Doing away with the exclusive exemption of religious bodies from taxes on commercial operations unrelated to religion, such as church-owned factories, hotels and other business.

—Elimination of a so-called loophole in tax provisions that allows exempt groups, including churches, to purchase business enterprises on credit, lease them back to operators, with profits received as tax-free rents to pay for the purchase.

However, the church organizations urged retention of present exemptions on investment income, including stock dividends and interest, and on facilities and functions directly related to religious purposes.

Similar exemptions also are allowed a vast array of other charitable, educational and public service organizations.

"Society is stronger and richer for the voluntary associations in which citizens voluntarily band together for constructive purposes," the National Council said in a separate action.

It noted that the exemption policy helps "foster such voluntary groups," but does not give religious bodies "any special privilege" not shared by many secular groups. Neither does the policy subsidize religion, such as in some European countries where state taxes are collected to support churches.

The council is made up of 34 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with more than 40 million members.

As to why the churches themselves should call for stricter limits on tax exemptions, part of the reason lies in church aversion to any arrangement making Christianity beholden to the state. Moreover, church leaders point out that Biblical passages make clear that Christians are to pay proper taxes to governing authorities and share in the cost of civic order.

As the apostle Paul wrote in Romans 13:7: "Pay them all their dues, taxes to whom taxes are due, revenues to whom revenue is due."

The Bible in Many Languages

MULTITUDES HEAR THE WORD OF GOD ALOUD OR PROCLAIMED BY PREACHING

Scripture—Nehemiah 8:1-3, 8; Acts 2:1-12.

By R. H. RAMSEY
ALL THE verses assigned to this lesson deal with the reading aloud of the Word of God, the preaching of its truths, and the work of the Holy Spirit in converting those who hear and believe this Word.

God's message was not intended for the people of one time or one place only. It was universal in scope and, being so, required translation. So, at a given time in history, God broke through the communications barrier, couching His revelation in the language of the people.

Nearly fifty years after Jerusalem was destroyed and its citizens carried into Babylonian captivity, Cyrus, king of Persia, issued a decree permitting their return to Palestine and giving them authority to rebuild the Temple. Nehemiah visited Jerusalem in 444 B.C., and a few years later, under Ezra, the great religious revival recorded in Nehemiah occurred.

But after the walls of Jerusalem had been rebuilt, the work on the Temple had not yet begun. (The Temple was not completed until the reign of Darius

Holy Spirit that had been promised the apostles and for which they waited in Jerusalem.

The Spirit was poured out in such measure that the apostles were said to have been filled with it and given the ability to speak other languages.

At the time of Pentecost, Jerusalem was filled with Jews from many nations, for Jerusalem was—and still is—the religious center that drew the devout from all points of the known world. The sound of the great wind was heard throughout the city and hundreds of curious people were drawn to the place from which the sound seemed to come.

As they listened, they heard the apostles speaking in the languages of the far-off nations from which they had come. The apostles, who had never been outside Palestine, were suddenly speaking the native dialects of remote areas around the Mediterranean and along the banks of the Euphrates. Their hearers' amazement and consternation was multiplied by the fact that the speakers were Galileans, a group not noted for being well-educated or versed in of Persia, many years later.) On the first day of the seventh month, the people gathered at the water gate where Ezra read the Book of the Law to them. We are told he read from early in the morning to midday to an assembly of both men and women. The Law was read with clearness and precision, and explained fully, and the people listened attentively and understood.

After hearing the Law, the children of Israel assembled in sackcloth and ashes and fasted. They confessed their sins and God's manifest goodness and made a covenant promising to observe the Law as it had been read to them.

While the Word of God is not actually mentioned or referred to in the account of the great day of Pentecost, Peter continually referred to the Old Testament Scriptures as he preached to those who had gathered in the upper room, expounding the great truths that came to be called the Word of God.

Suddenly the house was filled with the sound of rushing wind and tongues of fire rested upon each of those assembled there. This was the baptism of the many languages. About fifteen different nationality groups are listed and all were surprised and puzzled by what they heard. What was happening could not be explained on any natural or logical ground. They were hearing the Word of God spoken in their own tongues by men who had no way of learning to speak those tongues, let alone speak them fluently. They could not account for what they were seeing and hearing, and could only question each other about such a miracle.

Through the descent of the Holy Spirit God enabled the apostles to speak in all the languages characteristic of the homelands of the people. Thus the people could hear of the wonderful works and Word of God in their native tongue and understand what they heard.

The message of salvation is unavailable to those who do not have it in an understandable form, and with the descent of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost God developed a communications breakthrough enabling every man to hear the great gospel message in his own language.

NEW YORK (AP) — In a world where transcontinental and transoceanic plane flights run as often as commuter trains, it is easy to forget that until the 20th century, mankind had been dreaming for centuries of soaring like a bird.

The first faltering steps in the realization of that dream, from 1902 until Charles Lindbergh's 1927 solo journey across the Atlantic, were sketched Thursday night in ABC's "Kitty Hawk to Paris."

The program used film material from archives, of course, but also had some recent color film showing reproductions of those clumsy ancient planes as well as shots of the flimsy antiquities in precarious flight.

The result, while hardly an hour to make the spine tingle, did make the viewer realize that aviation has come a long way since that day 67 years ago when the Wright brothers sent a contraption made of muslin, wire and spare buggy parts up in the air for 12 seconds.

The program also pointed out that the United States, where the first plane flew, was not impressed with the brothers flying machine. It was when they took it to Europe that the world began to notice.

The program avoided the obvious, familiar materials — the old motion picture shots, the old newsreel clips showing experimental planes crashing. It did point up a footnote of history: President Theodore Roosevelt took a plane ride in the early 1900s, pronounced it bulky and did nothing about promoting flying.

It was a timely and well-conceived program. One could wish that with such an exciting subject it could have been less an illustrated lecture and more of an adventure for the viewers.

CBS, earlier in the evening, showed its first program in a summer series, "Animal World." The series has been around television in syndication and, more recently, on NBC. It is standard animal material.

The first CBS episode, replacing "The Queen and I," couldn't miss with the family audience. It concentrated on the Arctic family life of penguins, with another portion devoted to the huskies, once the horses of the Far North.

It was a logical choice as a summer series for an early evening spot since it will appeal primarily to the youngest members of the television audience.

Pomeroy Hospital To Receive Grant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Director Albert G. Giles of the Ohio Office of Appalachia announced Thursday the awarding of a $21,800 federal grant to the Meigs County Hospital in Pomeroy.

The grant will assist in the construction of a $600,000 wing to the county-owned Veterans' Memorial Hospital to provide an additional 40 beds for long-term patients.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

The vigorous cold front which brought so much violent weather to the state Thursday afternoon eastward beyond Ohio.

A cold cyclonic flow of air followed in its wake and will dominate Ohio's weather for at least the next two days.

The normal high temperature range for this date is 67 to 75. Today's actual high temperature range will be from the 50s to the lower 60s.

Saturday's highs also will be in this same range.

The outlook for Sunday is mostly cloudy and a little warmer.

—FORECASTS—

NORTHWEST AND NORTHEAST OHIO — Considerable cloudiness and cooler with scattered showers tonight. Lows in the 40s. Variable cloudiness and continued quite cool Saturday. Highs again in the 50s. Outlook Sunday: partly cloudy and a little warmer.

CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST OHIO — Considerable cloudiness and much cooler with scattered showers tonight. Lows in the 40s. Variable cloudiness and continued quite cool Saturday. Highs in the mid 50s to lower 60s. Outlook Sunday: mostly fair and a little warmer.

OHIO FIVE - DAY FORECAST
Temperatures will average below normal Saturday through Wednesday. Highs will be in the 60s and nighttime lows will be in the 40s. Cool, with only slight day-to-day temperature changes. Scattered light showers early next week expected to total .25 inch or less.

3 Ohio Counties Off Food List

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 440 counties mentioned by President Nixon Tuesday as not having any type of federal food program were computed as of April 25, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

Since then six counties have asked to participate in either food stamp or commodity distribution programs, officials said.

They are Lemhi County, Idaho; Colfax, Neb.; Otsego, Glenn, Calif., and Suffolk City, Va.

The department said three Ohio counties still without any federal programs as of May 2 were Gallia, Hancock and Putnam.

of some master plan of the administration to confuse and conquer.

Then there are those who believe the administration itself hasn't been sure of what it wants to propose since the 108th General Assembly convened.

The appropriations bill, passed Wednesday in the House, underwent in a few short months nearly as many changes as Gypsy Rose Lee.

The changes continued right up to the finale.

It went onto the floor as a $4.4 billion measure but was quietly turned into a $4.1 billion piece of legislation.

Earlier it had been dropped from $5.8 billion to $4.4 billion. Before it was introduced, it was predicted as a $7.1 billion proposal.

The bill approved Wednesday is only a partial budget. Throw in education—to come as a supplemental bill—and capital improvements and the figure is more than $6 billion.

Legislators who probably criticize their wives for misplacing $3 in a checking account have little trouble losing or finding millions in the state budget.

Rep. Ethel Swanbeck of Huron, getting ready to speak against a Democratic amendment to the budget bill Wednesday, made this comment:

"Just a few remarks before I make a statement."

"Sounds like Calabrese," quipped Rep. Charles E. Fry of Springfield.

Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, speaking on behalf of Sunday liquor sales for restaurants during the last session, commented:

"Everybody likes to have a cocktail before they sit down to drink."

There were some other good quips to come out of the appropriations' bill debate.

"I used to drive over the Cuyahoga River to go downtown," said Cleveland James Flannery in introducing a Democratic amendment to raise money for water and air pollution.

"Now I walk across the river," he added.

Then he said: "I believe the Cuyahoga River is the only river in the country to be declared a fire hazard because of the oil slick on it."

"I knew Janis was going to testify, but I didn't know he was going to put on a road show."

So commented gubernatorial aide John McElroy after watching Mental Hygiene and Correction Director Martin A. Janis parade witnesses to the stand on behalf of a pay raise bill.

The administration - backed bill got hearings before the Senate Finance Committee. McElroy was there as an observer.

Janis, however, asked for more money than the bill would provide for more than half of his employees.

McElroy kept quiet.

SEC Probes C5A Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has begun an investigation to determine if its regulations were followed in the government's dealings with Lockheed Aircraft Corp. on procurement of the controversial C5A supertransport.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., asked for the probe after charges that huge increases in the cost of the C5A had been withheld by the Air Force to protect Lockheed's stock market position.

In a letter to Proxmire Wednesday, SEC Chairman Hamer Budge wrote, "The Commission staff has been requested to conduct a thorough and expeditious inquiry into all phases of this matter within our jurisdiction."

Robert H. Charles, the assistant Air Force secretary for procurement, has said the cost overrun estimates were withheld because they were not reliable.

It was reported that disclosure of the situation then could have cost Lockheed a figure nearly equal to stockholder equity. Since that time, however, new orders have been placed, changing the situation.

MULTITUDES HEAR THE WORD OF GOD ALOUD OR PROCLAIMED BY PREACHING

Scripture—Nehemiah 8:1-3, 8; Acts 2:1-12.

By R. H. RAMSEY
ALL THE verses assigned to this lesson deal with the reading aloud of the Word of God, the preaching of its truths, and the work of the Holy Spirit in converting those who hear and believe this Word.

God's message was not intended for the people of one time or one place only. It was universal in scope and, being so, required translation. So, at a given time in history, God broke through the communications barrier, couching His revelation in the language of the people.

Nearly fifty years after Jerusalem was destroyed and its citizens carried into Babylonian captivity, Cyrus, king of Persia, issued a decree permitting their return to Palestine and giving them authority to rebuild the Temple. Nehemiah visited Jerusalem in 444 B.C., and, a few years later, under Ezra, the great religious revival recorded in Nehemiah occurred.

But after the walls of Jerusalem had been rebuilt, the work on the Temple had not yet begun. (The Temple was not completed until the reign of Darius

CHS Class Of 1970 Selects Eight Officers For Senior Year

By DAVE SADLER

Winding up a school year takes a lot of hard work with exams, returning books and many other projects. The most important, however, is the election of new class and club officers.

On Friday the upcoming senior class elected their officers for the 1969-70 school year.

Heading the list of officers is Brent Liston, president of the new senior class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liston and resides with them on Route 3.

"I was happy because it's a real honor to be president of such a great class," was Brent's comment on his selection. He plans to approach his duties, presiding over meetings and carrying out its business, by using parliamentary procedure and "playing it cool."

Charlie Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson, of 167 E. Water St., has been selected vice-president of his class. Some of his duties are to bring new ideas to the administration and act as leader when the president is unable to participate.

Charlie stated, "I was very honored to be elected. With the help of our great class, I'm sure I can do my job satisfactorily."

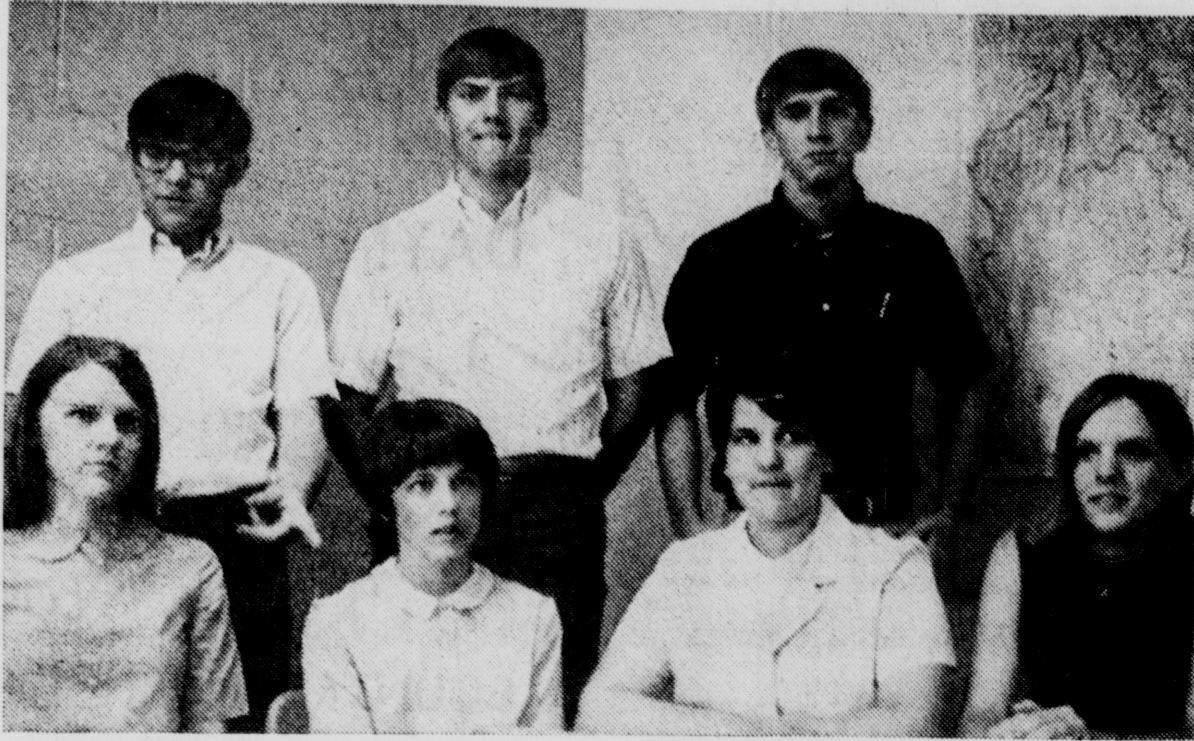

Treasurer for the new Senior class will be Marsha Long. She lives with her mother, Mrs. Daisy Long, and a brother and sister at 224 Third Ave.

Being treasurer of the Curtin Callers this year, Marsha brings experience to her job. "With the help of the other officers, I hope to fulfill my duties," said Marsha.

"I was really honored and proud to be chosen as an officer to represent our class," This was Carol Binns' reaction to being selected as the Senior class secretary.

Accuracy is Carol's main goal on keeping records of the meetings. She is also responsible as the corresponding secretary.

Carol resides with her

grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boyer of 1095 S. Washington St.

New representative of the 1970 senior class when caps and gowns arrive is Sheryl Binns. This is just one of her duties as Baccalaureate and commencement chairman.

Carol plans to approach the class and carry out its wishes in carrying out her job. Sheryl, the twin sister of Carol lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Binns at Route 4.

"I was thrilled and happy. It was really an honor." This was Sheryl's comment on her selection to the post on the Sr. Class Council.

Parliamentarian for next year is Randy Dresbach. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dresbach and resides at 466 E. Franklin St.

Randy holds the responsibility of keeping law and order at all the meetings. He plans to be fair but expects cooperation.

A councilman-at-large must have a good ear and a shoulder to cry on. One such person is Randy Halley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Liston Halley. He resides with his parents and four brothers at 458 E. Franklin St.

Randy plans to attack his office cautiously but with due authority. Surprised at being selected, he hopes he can do a creditable job for his class.

chairman, Meg Ebert. She will be responsible for the organization of most of the class projects.

Meg is the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Edward Ebert. She lives at 235 Watt St. with her sister and twin brother. She is active at present organizing the Junior-Senior Prom, as chairman of the Prom committee.

Kiger, Burke Are CHS DECA Students Of Week

BOB KIGER

By JIM BALLOU

A featured Distributive Education student is Bob Kiger, 19, of 314 E. Logan St.

Bob lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kiger. He also has six brothers and sisters: Nancy, 18; Diane, 14; Mark, 10; Ronnie, 12 and twins, Jerry and Terry, 9.

Bob is in his second year of DE and is now employed at the L-K Restaurant where "The work is very enjoyable."

When queried about DE, Bob said, "It's a good course for anyone interested."

He was also quoted as saying, "Not only are both the teachers nice, but you only have to go to school half of the time."

CAROLYN BURKE

Bob's plans after school include joining the Army or the Navy for a four year hitch.

Carolyn Burke resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burke at 131 Pontious Lane. She is enrolled in the general course of study.

Carolyn is presently employed at the Burger Chef. She likes the type of work she does and gets along very well with people.

When asked her feelings about DE, she stated, "I think DE should be a required course. It helps to prepare one for the future."

Carolyn has no definite plans for after graduation.

Chamber Holds Job Training For Students

By MEL SMITH

Local Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a job training program for CHS students who are not college-bound. The following is what the students had to say about the "Pilot's Program."

Debbie Leasure who resides at 230 Brinks Drive, with her parents, Mr and Mrs. Charles R. Leasure, said, "I think this program can help me to know what secretaries have to do and know. It is interesting going to these sessions."

Tom Wickerham, residing at 166 Watt St. with his father, Fred Wickerham, commented, "I think this will help me and I hope to try general mechanics at DuPont after being graduated."

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rodgers, John Rodgers, lives with his parents at 372 Walnut St. He replied, "I'm training for carpentry and I'm thoroughly enjoying this program."

Sam Cupp, 1265 N. Court St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cupp said, "I think this program is very interesting and can teach people a lot. This program is good because a little bit of everything is involved."

Musical Notes

By RUTH ANN RIHL

Last Wednesday, 103 band members were measured for new uniforms. The uniforms have been ordered and will arrive August 1-15.

Music that will be performed at the May 9th concert is as follows: "The Stars and Stripes Forever," "King of Kings," and "Concert Sound of the Tijuana Brass."

The choir will be singing "Down in Circleville," "Up, Up, and Away," "Windy," and other pieces.

Since this is their last concert, all Seniors will be honored tonight.

Marsha Willoughby has had a change of plans concerning the United States Choir. Instead of being in the Canadian tour will cost quite a bit more, but she will go to Japan. This tour will cost quite a bit more, but because of Marsha's excellent singing she has been awarded $550 by the U.S. choir to help take care of some of her expenses.

She has also received donations from several Circleville clubs and organizations. On June 26 she must be at San Francisco, Calif. to begin the tour. She will return on July 16.

The music awards banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. on May 27 at the high school cafeteria. It will be a carry-in dinner.

Senior SOS Members Pick Five Club Officers

SOS OFFICERS — Members of the Senior SOS elected five new officers recently. The new club leaders are (left to right) Sandy Rich, Beverly May, Barb Carter, Sandy Greenlee and Mary Beth Hughes.

By BEV THOMPSON and JACKIE ULLMAN

Senior SOS has chosen its new club officers for next year.

Barbara Carter was elected to the office and was "stunned and deeply honored" with her accomplishment. She resides with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Carter on Route 2.

Barb's activities include SOS, the Ohio Holstein Assn., Junior Class Projects Co-chairman, Westfall livestock 4-H club, Wayne Twp. Thread and Thimbles 4-H Club, Pickaway County Junior Leaders, Pickaway County 4-H advisory committee, Junior MYF counselor, and Sunday School teacher at the Mt. Pleasant United Methodist Church.

Showing dairy cattle, sewing, "Mod Squad", clean-cut guys and politics are also some of Barb's interests. She dislikes stuck-up kids, her temper, exams and loosing arguments.

When asked about her future plans she replied, "I plan to attend the Circleville Bible College and perhaps become a social worker or a teacher."

Sandy Greenlee, who resides with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur H. Greenlee at 138 Dunmore Road, was newly elected as the Senior SOS vice president.

Sandy is active in SOS, NHS and the CHS band. "I felt very honored to be chosen as next year's vice president," was Sandy's reaction to her new office.

Sandy's interests include John, weekends, new clothes and traveling. Spiders, rainy days and ill-mannered people are among her dislikes.

Sandy hopes to attend Miami University and major in either education of the retarded or elementary education.

Next year's recording secretary will be Mary Beth Hughes. She resides at 221 E. Union St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hughes. Mary Beth has a brother, Billy, and a sister, Darla.

Among her many activities,

Mary Beth lists being a member of NHS, EMS, band, Red Cross Volunteer, and Community United Methodist Church. She is president of FNC and one of CHS's representatives to Buckeye Girls' State.

"Having been in CHS for three years, I feel quite honored to be an officer my senior year," was Mary Beth's reaction to having been elected to SOS recording secretary.

Mary Beth likes the color blue and pickles, while rainy weekends and tests on Mondays are her dislikes.

Mary Beth plans a career in nursing.

Playing the piano and watching basketball games are some of the interests of Bev May, SOS's new corresponding secretary. She resides at 481 E. Franklin St. with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. May.

Bev's activities include being an alternate of Student Council, a member of SOS and St. Joseph Catholic Church.

"I was surprised but very honored, hoping to be worthy of the office of corresponding secretary," was Bev's comment on being elected.

Bev hopes to join the Women's Army Corps or enter college and major in mathematics.

Elected to the office of SOS treasurer was Sandy Rich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rich of 395 Sunnyview Drive.

Sandy's activities include service chairman of SOS, student secretary and a member of the entrance committee for the Prom.

Her reaction to her new office was, "I was really surprised. I am certainly going to try and live up to the trust the club has put in me."

Sandy likes having her driver's license, being almost a senior, and pretzels. Student uprisings, slow people and worms are some of her dislikes.

After graduation Sandy plans to work in an office, preferably as a secretary.

One slightly beat up copy of Life magazine made the rounds at CHS because included in the riot pictures from Cornell University was a 1968 graduate of CHS, Craig Lambert.

Walisa Is CHS Player Of The Week

CHARLES WALISA

By FRANKIE CARTER

Chuck Walisa is this week's featured baseball player. Chuck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walisa of 1238 S. Pickaway St.

Besides playing baseball, Chuck was also on the football team and in H.Y. His hobbies include baseball and bowling.

This is the second year Chuck has played varsity baseball. He has played third base both years.

He stated, "The team has had bad breaks in the league, but the team should finish second or third."

When asked his opinion of Coach Fouts he replied, "Coach Fouts is a great coach. I think he has put a lot of spirit in our ball team."

Chuck is in the general course of study and his plans after graduation are indefinite.

CHS Class Of 1970 Selects Eight Officers For Senior Year

By DAVE SADLER

Winding up a school year takes a lot of hard work with exams, returning books and many other projects. The most important, however, is the election of new class and club officers.

On Friday the upcoming senior class elected their officers for the 1969-70 school year.

Heading the list of officers is Brent Liston, president of the new Senior class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liston and resides with them on Route 3.

"I was happy because it's a real honor to be president of such a great class," was Brent's comment on his selection. He plans to approach his duties, presiding over meetings and carrying out its business, by using parliamentary procedure and "playing it cool."

Charlie Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson, of 167 E. Water St., has been selected vice-president of his class. Some of his duties are to bring new ideas to the administration and act as leader when the president is unable to participate.

Charlie stated, "I was very honored to be elected. With the help of our great class, I'm sure I can do my job satisfactorily."

Treasurer for the new Senior class will be Marsha Long. She lives with her mother, Mrs. Daisy Long, and a brother and sister at 224 Third Ave.

Being treasurer of the Curtin Callers this year, Marsha brings experience to her job. "With the help of the other officers, I hope to fulfill my duties," said Marsha.

"I was really honored and proud to be chosen as an officer to represent our class." This was Carol Binns' reaction to being selected as the Senior class secretary.

Accuracy is Carol's main goal on keeping records of the meetings. She is also responsible as the corresponding secretary.

grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boyer of 1095 S. Washington St.

New representative of the 1970 senior class when caps and gowns arrive is Sheryl Binns. This is just one of her duties as Baccalaureate and commencement chairman.

Carol plans to approach the class and carry out its wishes in carrying out her job. Sheryl, the twin sister of Carol lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Binns at Route 4.

"I was thrilled and happy. It was really an honor." This was Sheryl's comment on her selection to the post on the Sr. Class Council.

Parliamentarian for next year is Randy Dresbach. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dresbach and resides at 466 E. Franklin St.

Randy holds the responsibility of keeping law and order at all the meetings. He plans to be fair but expects cooperation. A councilman-at-large must have a good ear and a shoulder to cry on. One such person is Randy Halley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Liston Halley. He resides with his parents and four brothers at 458 E. Franklin St.

Randy plans to attack his office cautiously but with due authority. Surprised at being selected, he hopes he can do a creditable job for his class.

Kiger, Burke Are CHS DECA Students Of Week

BOB KIGER

By JIM BALLOU

A featured Distributive Education student is Bob Kiger, 19, of 314 E. Logan St.

Bob lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kiger. He also has six brothers and sisters: Nancy, 18; Diane, 14; Mark, 10; Ronnie, 12 and twins, Jerry and Terry, 9.

Bob is in his second year of DE and is now employed at the L-K Restaurant where "The work is very enjoyable."

When queried about DE, Bob said, "It's a good course for anyone interested."

He was also quoted as saying, "Not only are both the teachers nice, but you only have to go to school half of the time."

CAROLYN BURKE

Bob's plans after school include joining the Army or the Navy for a four year hitch.

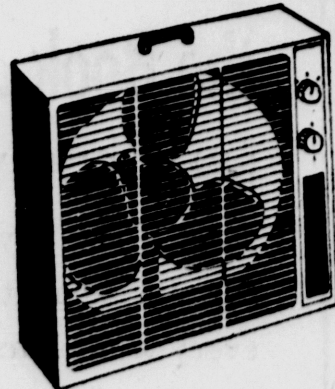

Carolyn Burke resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burke at 131 Pontious Lane. She is enrolled in the general course of study.

Carolyn is presently employed at the Burger Chef. She likes the type of work she does and gets along very well with people.

When asked her feelings about DE, she stated, "I think DE should be a required course. It helps to prepare one for the future."

Carolyn has no definite plans for after graduation.

Chamber Holds Job Training For Students

By MEL SMITH

Local Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a job training program for CHS students who are not college-bound. The following is what the students had to say about the "Pilot's Program."

Debbie Leasure who resides at 230 Brinks Drive, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Leasure, said, "I think this program can help me to know what secretaries have to do and know. It is interesting going to these sessions."

Tom Wickerham, residing at 166 Watt St., with his father, Fred Wickerham, commented, "I think this will help me and I hope to try general mechanics at DuPont after being graduated."

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rodgers, John Rodgers, lives with his parents at 372 Walnut St. He replied, "I'm training for carpentry and I'm thoroughly enjoying this program."

Sam Cupp, 1265 N. Court St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cupp said, "I think this program is very interesting and can teach people a lot. This program is good because a

What Is A Teacher?

By BEV THOMPSON

What is a responsible teacher? What is a responsible adult?

The teaching profession demands from a teacher that he understand and like kids.

However, I feel the role of being a teacher must involve more.

It is the teacher who admits when he is wrong and who shows a genuine interest in his students, who always seems to get the praise from the students. A teacher who knows how to reach his students without reprimanding them will succeed much more in his teaching relationships. Over-all class participation will improve, too.

The student who is constantly run down for his efforts will soon come to dread the class and the teacher as well. The teacher who listens to his students' questions and explains the subject will realize the greater interest shown by the students.

The over all responsible teacher possesses the qualities of any responsible adult. The examples are set by those who practice what they preach.

What Is A Student?

By MRS. JANET BOGGS

What are the characteristics of a responsible student? Everyone differs to a certain extent on this question.

But through listening and talking to various teachers and students, one arrives at some of the following conclusions. He is one who, when assigned a task, carries through on his own.

As windows to the world are opened in his mind, he becomes more curious and questing after knowledge. He goes seeking without being prodded.

He is capable of self-discipline even though tempted many times to procrastinate, to copy, to develop "paperitis" or to "enhance" the truth a wee bit.

He's human. He has a sense of humor and a streak of mischief. Since he is a teenager, he is up in the clouds one minute and down, down, down, the next.

He's seeking maturity and independence one day and wanting a good shoulder to lean on the next.

He is growing capable of constructive dissent.

He has a healthy attitude toward himself, the opposite sex and young love.

He is interested in extra-curricular activities but not at the expense of his basic education.

He does not think he is the exception and that he should have special privileges.

He is beginning to realize that parents and teachers are "people" too—with hopes and dreams, disappointments and failures.

He's the kid next door, down the street, around the corner, in the classroom. He is fun to know and a pleasure to teach.

3 Juniors Are Thinlies Of Week

By DEBBIE HEISKEL

This week CHS highlights three junior "fleet-footed" trackmen.

Paul Bost, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Bost, resides with his family at 464 N. Court St. He has one sister and seven brothers. His brother, Will, is also a member of the CHS track team.

Paul is in the general course of study, listing American history as his favorite subject.

He has played both football and basketball during high school. Paul is also an active member of the Stogie Club.

This is Paul's third year on the track team. He went out for track to help get in shape for football and to be on a winning team. The events which he participates in are pole vault, 880 relay and high jump.

When asked how he felt about his team and coach he replied, "Coach Lint is a man that is dedicated to his track team."

Paul feels that dedication is the important factor in making a good track team.

Sixteen-year-old Mike Henderson resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Henderson and his sister, Lisa, at 138 Park Place.

Mike is enrolled in the college prep course of study. He is active in Stogie and Student Council. Mike likes sports and has played both basketball and football for CHS.

When asked why he went out for track he replied, "I chose to participate in track to become faster and stronger for football and to have a chance to get a white letter."

This is Mike's third year on the track team. He runs the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash and the 880 relay.

Mike states, "A good team is one in which each individual dedicates himself to the team. A good coach is also important in making a good team."

Last but not least is Bill Keener, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harr. Bill resides at 710 Northridge Road along with five brothers and one sister.

Bill is enrolled in the college prep course of study. He is kept busy by being a member of the Stogie club. Bill has played on both the CHS basketball and football teams.

Bill states that track gets him stronger for football. He has been active on the track team for three years. He participates in the high jumping event.

Bill's feelings for his coach are, "Mr. Lint is the best coach I've ever had. If we don't win the league, it won't be his fault."

'Circle' Staff Begins Work On School Yearbook

By MINDY WOOD, MARY TOLLIVER, and JAN CLIFTON

Beth Spiers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spiers of 402 E. Main St., will be next year's editor of the yearbook "The Circle."

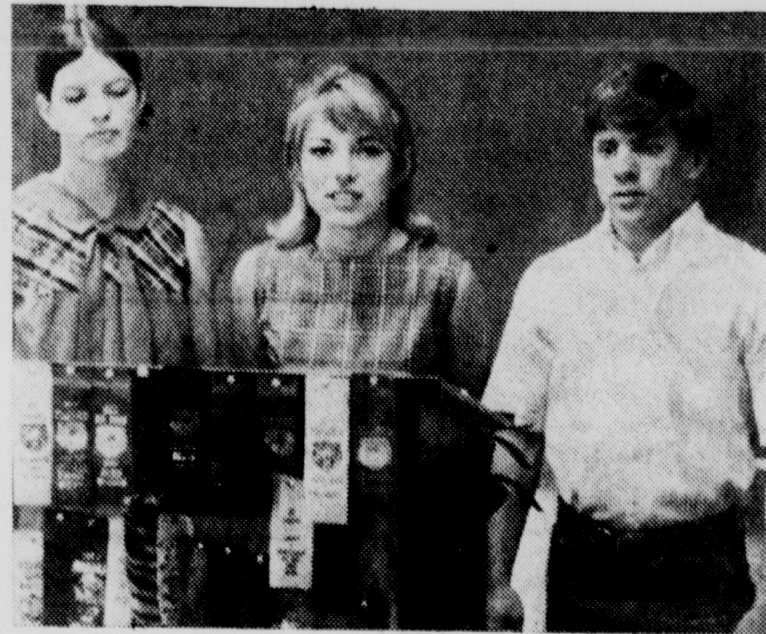

Heading the 1970 yearbook will be a lot of hard work, but Beth will have plenty of help.

Members included on her staff are Benny Luna, associate editor; Mark Ebert, business manager; Janie Guenther and Sally McDaniel, Junior High representatives; Ann Hefelfinger, Louis Edsell and Lynn Jacobs, sophomore representatives; Marilyn Penn, Lee Jolliffe, Mary Beth Rhoades and Diana Berry, Junior representatives; and Dick Walters, Debbie Moore, Debbie Heiskell, Karen Matesky and Carol Binns, Senior representatives.

Beth has chosen "Born Free" as her theme with the idea that "Everyone has their freedom to choose their own high school activities." Some of Beth's new ideas include putting the Junior High activities in a separate section and rearranging some of the book's order.

Editor Beth plans to help Mark start the advertising campaign in June, to plan the book's lay-out, and take most of the color pictures.

When Beth was asked what characteristics a good staff member should have she replied, "Someone who offers to do things and doesn't need to be asked, one who puts yearbook work even before exams if there is a deadline to meet, and one who doesn't mind doing a little bit of every kind of work.

When asked about being chosen she said, "It makes me feel good because I feel that I have some new ideas to use in the book. And I hope to try to cover the school more equally so no one will feel slighted."

Business manager is Mark Ebert. He resides with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ebert and his sister, Meg.

Mark has been an active member of the staff for four years and was appointed business manager in the spring of 1968.

When asked what he does to fulfill his job, Mark stated, "My job is mostly in the financial department. During the spring and summer I organize the advertising campaign and try to keep all of the staff members working hard. In the fall my job is to sell subscriptions for the yearbook. Along with these jobs I take care of paying bills and requisitioning needed money."

When the completed yearbook arrives, I must make sure every student receives his book. What has Mark learned since he has been on the staff? He has learned about managing money through both bad and good experiences."

Associate editor is Benny Luna who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Luna of 898 N. Court St.

About her position she commented, "I am very happy to be chosen assistant editor and I hope to help Beth all I can even though I'll get all the 'dirty' work. I hope to make the annual the best yet."

Hoover Says He'll Continue As FBI Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, 74, dousing rumors he will step down Saturday on his 45th anniversary as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said today he has no plans to retire.

"I have many plans and aspirations for the future," said Hoover. "None of them includes retirement."

"As long as God grants me the health and the stamina to continue, I have no ambition other than to remain in my post as director of the FBI."

Hoover, who told of his plans in written responses to questions submitted by The Associated Press, is more than four years past the mandatory retirement age for federal employees, a requirement waived in his case by former President Lyndon B. Johnson and President Nixon.

Hoover claimed his five-year-old prediction that Communists would launch a new youth-oriented campaign in this country had come to pass with the emergence of militant "New Left" student groups.

"Although virtually devoid of an effective youth arm of its own," he said, "the Communist party has succeeded in penetrating and influencing a number of militant youth organizations—particularly those of the so-called New Left."

Mortality Rate Factors Against Newspapermen

MONTREAL (AP) — Your chances of living to 65 are directly related to education and success in career and marriage, insurance statistician Jules V. Quint said.

Quint, from the Metropolitan Insurance Co., told an underwriters association that death rates among men 25 to 64 decline in relation to educational attainment and married men have considerably lower mortality rates than bachelors or divorced men.

"Prominent professional and business men live on the average distinctly longer than men in the general population," he said.

"Scientists register the lowest mortality rate among prominent men, while the highest mortality is registered by correspondents and journalists."

What is a responsible teacher? What is a responsible adult?

The teaching profession demands from a teacher that he understand and like kids.

However, I feel the role of being a teacher must involve more.

It is the teacher who admits when he is wrong and who shows a genuine interest in his students, who always seems to get the praise from the students. A teacher who knows how to reach his students without reprimanding them will succeed much more in his teaching relationships. Over-all class participation will improve, too.

The student who is constantly run down for his efforts will soon come to dread the class and the teacher as well. The teacher who listens to his students' questions and explains the subject will realize the greater interest shown by the students.

The over all responsible teacher possesses the qualities of any responsible adult. The examples are set by those who practice what they preach.

What Is A Student?

By MRS. JANET BOGGS

What are the characteristics of a responsible student? Everyone differs to a certain extent on this question.

But through listening and talking to various teachers and students, one arrives at some of the following conclusions. He is one who, when assigned a task, carries through on his own.

As windows to the world are opened in his mind, he becomes more curious and questing after knowledge. He goes seeking without being prodded.

He is capable of self-discipline even though tempted many times to procrastinate, to copy, to develop "paperitis" or to "enhance" the truth a wee bit.

He's human. He has a sense of humor and a streak of mischief. Since he is a teenager, he is up in the clouds one minute and down, down, down, the next.

He's seeking maturity and independence one day and wanting a good shoulder to lean on the next.

He is growing capable of constructive dissent.

He has a healthy attitude toward himself, the opposite sex and young love.

He is interested in extra-curricular activities but not at the expense of his basic education.

He does not think he is the exception and that he should have special privileges.

He is beginning to realize that parents and teachers are "people" too—with hopes and dreams, disappointments and failures.

He's the kid next door, down the street, around the corner, in the classroom. He is fun to know and a pleasure to teach.

'Circle' Staff Begins Work On School Yearbook

By MINDY WOOD, MARY TOLLIVER, and JAN CLIFTON

Beth Spire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spire of 402 E. Main St., will be next year's editor of the yearbook "The Circle."

Heading the 1970 yearbook will be a lot of hard work, but Beth will have plenty of help.

Members included on her staff are Benny Luna, associate editor; Mark Ebert, business manager; Janie Guenther and Sally McDaniel, Junior High representatives; Ann Hefelfinger, Louis Edsall and Lynn Jacobs, sophomore representatives; Marilyn Penn, Lee Jolliffe, Mary Beth Rhoades and Diana Berry, Junior representatives; and Dick Walters, Debbie Moore, Debbie Heiskell, Karen Matesky and Carol Binns, Senior representatives.

Beth has chosen "Born Free" as her theme with the idea that "Everyone has their freedom to choose their own high school activities." Some of Beth's new ideas include putting the Junior High activities in a separate section and rearranging some of the book's order.

Editor Beth plans to help Mark start the advertising campaign in June, to plan the book's lay-out, and take most of the color pictures.

When Beth was asked what characteristics a good staff member should have she replied, "Someone who offers to do things and doesn't need to be asked, one who puts yearbook work even before exams

if there is a deadline to meet, and one who doesn't mind doing a little bit of every kind of work.

When asked about being chosen she said, "It makes me feel good because I feel that I have some new ideas to use in the book. And I hope to try to cover the school more equally so no one will feel slighted."

Business manager is Mark Ebert. He resides with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ebert and his sister, Meg.

Mark has been an active member of the staff for four years and was appointed business manager in the spring of 1968.

When asked what he does to fulfill his job, Mark stated, "My job is mostly in the financial department. During the spring and summer I organize the advertising campaign and try to keep all of the staff members working hard. In the fall my job is to sell subscriptions for the yearbook. Along with these jobs I take care of paying bills and requisitioning needed money."

When the completed yearbook arrives, I must make sure every student receives his book. What has Mark learned since he has been on the staff? He has learned about managing money through both bad and good experiences."

Associate editor is Benny Luna who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Luna of 898 N. Court St.

About her position she commented, "I am very happy to be chosen assistant editor and I hope to help Beth all I can even though I'll get all the 'dirty' work. I hope to make the annual the best yet."

Seniors have only 10 more days left.

Mr. Sowder seems to enjoy receiving dandelion bouquets.

The guidance office is a popular "hang-out" for a certain bunch of juniors and seniors.

Hoover Says He'll Continue As FBI Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, 74, dousing rumors he will step down Saturday on his 45th anniversary as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said today he has no plans to retire.

"I have many plans and aspirations for the future," said Hoover. "None of them includes retirement."

"As long as God grants me the health and the stamina to continue, I have no ambition other than to remain in my post as director of the FBI."

Hoover, who told of his plans in written responses to questions submitted by The Associated Press, is more than four years past the mandatory retirement age for federal employees, a requirement waived in his case by former President Lyndon B. Johnson and President Nixon.

Hoover claimed his five-year-old prediction that Communists would launch a new youth-oriented campaign in this country had come to pass with the emergence of militant "New Left" student groups.

"Although virtually devoid of an effective youth arm of its own," he said, "the Communist party has succeeded in penetrating and influencing a number of militant youth organizations—particularly those of the so-called New Left."

Mortality Rate Factors Against Newspapermen

MONTREAL (AP) — Your chances of living to 65 are directly related to education and success in career and marriage, insurance statistician Jules V. Quint said.

Quint, from the Metropolitan Insurance Co., told an underwriters association that death rates among men 25 to 64 decline in relation to educational attainment and married men have considerably lower mortality rates than bachelors or divorced men.

"Prominent professional and business men live on the average distinctly longer than men in the general population," he said.

"Scientists register the lowest mortality rate among prominent men, while the highest mortality is registered by correspondents and journalists."

3 Juniors Are Thinlies Of Week

By DEBBIE HEISKEL

This week CHS highlights three junior "fleet-footed" trackmen.

Paul Bost, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Bost, resides with his family at 464 N. Court St. He has one sister and seven brothers. His brother, Will, is also a member of the CHS track team.

Paul is in the general course of study, listing American history as his favorite subject.

He has played both football and basketball during high school. Paul is also an active member of the Stooze Club.

This is Paul's third year on the track team. He went out for track to help get in shape for football and to be on a winning team. The events which he participates in are pole vault, 880 relay and high jump.

When asked how he felt about his team and coach he replied, "Coach Lint is a man that is dedicated to his track team."

Paul feels that dedication is the important factor in making a good track team.

Sixteen-year-old Mike Henderson resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Henderson and his sister, Lisa, at 138 Park Place.

Mike is enrolled in the college prep course of study. He is active in Stooze and Student Council. Mike likes sports and has played both basketball and football for CHS.

When asked why he went out for track he replied, "I chose to participate in track to become faster and stronger for football and to have a chance to get a white letter."

This is Mike's third year on the track team. He runs the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash and the 880 relay.

Mike states, "A good team is one in which each individual dedicates himself to the team. A good coach is also important in making a good team."

Last but not least is Bill Keener, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harr. Bill resides at 710 Northridge Road along with five brothers and one sister.

Bill is enrolled in the college prep course of study. He is kept busy by being a member of the Stooze club. Bill has played on both the CHS basketball and football teams.

Bill states that track gets him stronger for football. He has been active on the track team for three years. He participates in the high jumping event.

Bill's feelings for his coach are, "Mr. Lint is the best coach I've ever had. If we don't win the league, it won't be his fault."

Mother's Day Is Special

By MICHELE HULSE

"God could not be everywhere; therefore he made mothers."

The observance of a day in honor of Mothers is officially 55 years old in the United States this year; relatively new compared to other countries.

The idea, however, is old. Celebrations of this day date back to the Middle Ages. It is believed to have actually begun from the religious and social customs of that time.

Many young people lived away from home, apprenticed or in domestic service. On certain days they are given a holiday to visit their mother church. It became a custom to bring gifts to their own mothers as well as to the altar.

In 1914, President Wilson proclaimed the second Sunday of May to be set aside each year to celebrate as Mother's Day.

Our observance of this day is not only to show our love for our own mothers. It is also a way to express respect and reverence for mothers everywhere living and dead. It is a way to honor these women for understanding, faith and affection for their part in our society and way of life.

Although greatly commercialized today, there still remains the vital emotions to make the day remain special and unique. No jingle or gimmick could ever replace a mother.

LOTS OF PEOPLE PREFER A "GOOD ADDRESS" and this probably is about as good as you can get in Palatine, Ill.

Old Soldier To Receive Damages

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Joseph R. Flynn, 65, who was discharged from the U.S. Army in 1945 just one week before he could have received a pension is looking forward to collecting what his lawyer estimates will be about $100,000 from Uncle Sam.

The windfall of back pension payments and accrued interest is actually the fruit of a three-year legal battle and a hearing two months ago before the Army board for corrections of military records in Washington. Asked about his immediate plans, Flynn said, "I'm going to pay my debts first and take care of my grandchildren."

While in the Army, he was "everything from a private to a company commander"—until he was discharged on the grounds that he was an alcoholic, he said. He tried to re-enlist as a private, but was turned down, he said.

Since then, I've cooked in a lot of places around Dallas. I've owned seven of my own cafes. I retired last November, and I get $84 a month from social security."

Under the new ruling, Flynn's records will be changed to show he had re-entered the service on Nov. 5, 1945, as a private and had served until Nov. 30, 1945, when he became eligible for a pension.

The exact amount he will receive in back pension payments and accrued interest is still undetermined, and it may take another six or eight months to reach a final settlement.

Rep. Patman Still After Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Banking Chairman Wright Patman, who takes credit for forcing Andrew Mellon to quit as Treasury secretary in 1932, renewed his attack Thursday against current Treasury chief David M. Kennedy.

Patman said he would spell out on the House floor new details of Kennedy's financial arrangements with Continental Illinois National Bank in Chicago.

Kennedy quit his $200,000-a-year job as bank chairman in January and says he sees no conflict of interest in serving as Treasury secretary.

Patman has insisted the opposite.

The aides said Patman was not calling for Kennedy's impeachment immediately as he did for Mellon's in 1932.

Patman was 38 and a three-year veteran in Congress when he took after Mellon who had been appointed 11 years earlier by President Warren G. Harding.

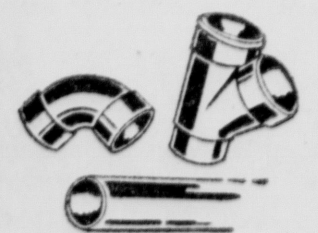

Fortas Cancels Fee For Speech

BOSTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas has canceled his share of a fee for a speech Thursday at Northeastern University.

Tom Conrad, student chairman of the committee sponsoring Fortas' appearance, said the fee was canceled Monday by the Harry Walker Agency in New York, which booked the speech.

Conrad said, "The agency called Monday and said the fee would be only $675, instead of the original $2,000." He said no reason was given.

Houston Astros Rack Philadelphia, 9-7, In NL Action

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pitching mound isn't the only thing lower for most of the hurlers who helped make 1968 the Year of the Zero in major league baseball. Their records also show quite a drop.

Of the top 10 pitchers in each league a year ago, only Juan Marichal of San Francisco and Oakland's Jim Nash show an appreciably better earned run average and some ERAs are astronomical.

Houston and Philadelphia wrecked more hitting havoc Thursday, with the Astros winning a 9-7 come-from-behind slugfest in the only scheduled game in either league.

They rallied for three runs in the eighth inning and three more in the ninth, wiping out a 7-3 Philadelphia lead and ruining a banner performance by Rich Allen, who walloped a towering grand slam homer and singled in another run.

Houston fell behind despite a 3-0 lead on Joe Morgan's leadoff homer and a two-run shot by Jim Wynn in the third. But they closed in when Jesus Alou cracked a two-run double and Gary Geiger hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth.

Norm Miller began the decisive ninth against reliever Gary Wagner with a single and walks to Curt Blefary and Doug Rader loaded the bases with two out. Alou's infield single tied the score and John Edwards drilled a single to right to win it.

"It's taken us a while to get in with one another and to get a little confidence," said manager Harry Walker, whose Astros have won six of their last seven games. "We started off bad and then we started to press."

"I think we'll be all right. We've got three hard throwers in Larry Dierker, Don Wilson and Tom Griffin. If they continue to improve we can be tough."

The pitchers on the other 22 teams had Thursday off to contemplate their woes. For example:

Cleveland's Luis Tiant, a 21-game winner and the American League's ERA leader at 1.60, shows an 0-6 record and 8.29 ERA. Teammate Sam McDowell's ERA is up from 1.81 to 3.23 and it took two consecutive shutouts to get it that respectable.

Baltimore's Dave McNally has a 5-0 mark but his ERA is up from 1.95 to 2.70. Denny McLain, Detroit's 31-game winner, is at 4-3 and 2.82, compared to 1.96 in 1968.

Tommy John of the Chicago White Sox is up from 1.98 to 2.66. Stan Bahsen of the New York Yankees—0-6 like Tiant—from 2.06 to 5.50. Joe Horlen of the White Sox from 2.37 to 3.60 and New York's Mel Stottlemyre and Oakland's John "Blue Moon" Odom from 2.45 to 2.64 and 2.84, respectively.

Nash, however, is down from 2.28 to 1.86 with a 3-1 record.

Over in the National League, Bob Gibson of St. Louis has a superb 1.94 ERA, but it was a record-setting 1.12 last season when he spun 13 shutouts.

San Francisco's Bob Bolin is up from 1.98 to 4.75. Pittsburgh's Bob Veale from 2.06 to 3.82. Jerry Kosman of the New York Mets from 2.08 to 3.57 and Steve Blass of the Pirates from 2.13 to 6.82.

Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, author of a record 53 consecutive scoreless innings last year, has soared from 2.15 to 5.85 and has a sore arm, as well. Tom Seaver of the Mets and Ray Washburn of the Cardinals are virtually the same, 2.20 to 2.28 for Seaver and 2.26 to 2.50 for Washburn. But Gaylord Perry of the Giants has jumped from 2.44 to 3.12.

Marichal, who won 26 games last year, has a 4-2 record and his ERA is 1.98, compared to last season's 2.43.

The people doing the hitting also have some strange names. The leading batters include Coco Laboy of Montreal, Chuck Harrison of Kansas City, Mike Hegan of Seattle and Bobby Murcer of the Yankees, none of whom was in the majors a year ago.

Danny Cater and Rick Monday of Oakland and Tony Oliva and Ted Uhlaender of Minnesota are hitting better but Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, the AL's batting champion, is mired at .230. Detroit's Willie Horton at .230. Detroit's Willie Horton at .149. Oakland's Bert Campaneris at .174 and Cleveland's mod swinger, Ken Harrison, is at .181.

The averages of Pittsburgh's Matty Alou, Atlanta's Felipe Alou, Cincinnati's Alex Johnson, New York's Cleon Jones and Montreal's Rusty Staub all show improvement, while the Giants' Willie McCovey is at 1968's .293 mark.

But defending bat champ Pete Rose of the Reds is down from .335 to .287. Curt Flood of the Cards from .301 to .259. Glen Beckert of the Cubs from .294 to .252 and Roberto Clemente of the Pirates from .291 to .242.

The current leaders are Minnesota's Rod Carew at .395 after a .273 season in 1968 and Jones of the Mets, up from .297 to .394.

Ack Ack To Take 'Exam' For Preakness At Withers

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cain Hoy Stable's Ack Ack, who passed a Kentucky Derby test but then was kept out of school, will take his examination for the Preakness Saturday.

Ack Ack won the one-mile Derby Trial but was held out of the 1 1/4-mile Derby. However, an impressive victory in the $50,000-added Withers, also one-mile, at Aqueduct should earn him a trip to Baltimore for the 1 3/16-mile Preakness, the second leg of the Triple Crown, May 17.

Osmar S. Deming's Rooney's Shield, a good fourth in the Wood Memorial and Locust Hill Farm's Tyrant also will be trying to earn Preakness shots in the 9th running of the Withers. Neither ran in the Derby.

The seven other probabilities in the Withers field are Aisco Stable's Prevailing, Clairborne Farm's Blade, Celestino Diliberto's Lion Sleeps, Dot Ed Farm's Dot's Imp, C.P. Kimmel's I Found Gold and C.V. Whitney's True North.

Each starter will carry 126 pounds.

The closing day feature at Sportsman's Park—the $75,000-added, 1 1/4-mile Illinois Derby—also will feature 3-year-olds, with Ogden Phipps' King of the Castle heading an expected field of 12.

King of the Castle, the Louisiana Derby winner, will be co-highweight at 126 pounds with Clifford Scott's and Omy Spitzer's Trusty Pro, winner of the Illinois Derby Trial. Other probabilities include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chaplin's Indian Emerald, 124 and Verne H. Winchell's King Loma, 119.

Grass runners will go in the $50,000, 1 1/2-mile Dixie Handicap at Pimlico, with a field of 12 likely.

Gustave Ring's Czar Alexander, second in the 1968 Washington, D. C., International and second in the Hialeah Turf Cup in his best showing in two starts this year, has been assigned top weight of 122 pounds. Barney Lobel's French-bred Taney, victory in the San Luis Rey, gets the second highest impose of 117.

ACK ACK — Held out of the Kentucky Derby, Ack Ack will be entered in the Preakness Saturday if he has an impressive showing in the Withers at Aqueduct.

Eddie Jones Signs With Cincy Bengals
CINCINNATI (AP) — Eddie Jones, leading pass receiver in the Mid-American Conference last season, signed as a free agent today with the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League.

A 6-foot, 184-pound product of Bowling Green, Jones will try out for a wide receiver spot. He caught 49 passes for 716 yards in 1968. In three seasons at Bowling Green, his total was 193 receptions for 1,615 yards.

geon, highweighted at 126 pounds; N.S. McCarthy's Time to Leave, 121, and William Haggin Perry's Desert Law, 117, top a probable field of nine fillies and mares for the $30,000-added Long Beach Handicap over one mile on the grass at Hollywood Park.

In a pair of $25,000-added events, Berry Path heads a field of 12 entered for the five-furlong Juvenile Dinner Stakes at Golden Gate Fields and Iron Ruler is the early choice among 10 probable for the 1 1/16-mile Valley Forge Handicap at Garden State Park.

Neil Castles Gets Chance For Win In Rebel 400 Race

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Neil Castles, at 34 a veteran of 16 years in stock car racing, gets his big chance for a major victory in Saturday's $65,000 Rebel 400, but isn't sure he'll be able to meet the challenge.

Castles was assigned his first ride in top grade machinery a week ago when Buddy Baker quit the Ray Fox Dodge Charger and moved to another factory machine maintained by Cotton Owens.

"Somebody up there was looking after me," said Castles, "when Fox and the Dodge people picked me as their driver. They have given me the chance. I know I must produce. I must win, maybe not in this first race but soon, if I expect to keep the ride."

Castles has spent two days trying to adjust to the car, consistently one of the fastest on the NASCAR circuit. He admits the adjustment from slow to fast machinery is harder than he had thought it would be.

"It is like switching from a go cart to a sprinter," the lanky veteran said, "and I still haven't gotten the hang of it."

After being bumped from the field on the first day of time trials Wednesday because of a comparatively slow lap of 146.727 miles per hour lap, Castles came back Thursday to nail down 11th spot in the 36-car field.

His lap speed was $144,732 m.p.h., two miles slower than his best of the previous day.

"Of course, I would have liked to have gone faster," he said. "The car is strong enough to be on the pole."

"But I have never had the opportunity to qualify a fast car, and maybe I simply don't know how."

"However, I believe I can drive the car as fast in the race as I have in time trials, and if I can stay out of trouble I can win."

Jerry West Picks Star: Lew Alcindor

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Alcindor can't miss making it big in the National Basketball Association, says Jerry West.

"I think he's going to be the most valuable player in the league," said the superstar of the Los Angeles Lakers today.

Here to receive a car as the outstanding player of the recent NBA final playoff series between the Lakers and the winning Boston Celtics, West was asked whom he would pick first if he had to select a pro team today.

"Lew Alcindor," he replied without hesitation.

"I've watched him play and he can do everything. He is quick, has great hands, can shoot and is an unselfish player."

"His one weakness is rebounding. For a guy his size he doesn't do enough. But with competition that will improve."

The 22-year-old Alcindor, a towering 7-foot-1 1/2 235-pounder from UCLA, recently signed a multiyear contract calling for an estimated $1.4 million with the NBA's Milwaukee Bucks.

Jim McMillan Signs
BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim McMillan, one of the top all-time running backs for The Citadel, has signed to play with the Baltimore Colts of the NFL.

Weekend Fishing Outlook Great

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fishing conditions in Ohio for the coming weekend range from good to very good and excellent, according to field men of the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

The conditions by areas:

LAKE ERIE
Good perch fishing in Sandusky Bay, Cedar Point, Huron Pier and Catawaba State Park. Bullheads are being taken in the Sandusky Bay and channel catfish and fresh water drum also are being caught. White bass are being caught in large numbers in the Sandusky River and Portage River. Next week should find smallmouth bass fishing at its peak.

NORTHWESTERN OHIO
INDIAN LAKE — Water at spillway level, fishermen taking crappies with minnows and catfish.

HOOVER RESERVOIR — Water clear and normal, good catches of crappies, catfish and walleye.

NORTHEASTERN OHIO
The lakes are in good fishing condition. Streams are normal and clear, a few are roily.

WEST BRANCH OF ST. JOSEPH RIVER — Taking northern pike, smallmouth bass, brown bullheads, channel catfish and rock bass.

LOST CREEK RESERVOIR — Good catches of crappies. Ferguson, Metzger and Lima Reservoirs are taking yellow perch, bluegill and a few walleyes.

SANDUSKY RIVER — Catching a few walleye and increasing numbers of white bass from the Fremont area below Ballville Dam.

NETTLE LAKE — Reported good catches of largemouth bass and crappies.

PLEASANT HILL, CLEAR FORK AND CHARLES MILL RESERVOIRS — Water levels

Area Thinlies Set For District

Jim Fox, Larry Pusey, Jeff Jones, Ralph Robey and Jim Schwalbach will represent Logan Elm in the Central District Track meet. Bob Oesterle and Jim Lett will represent Westfall.

Oesterle runs the mile and Lett the two mile. They did not have to qualify for the finals.

Fox qualified in both the high and the low hurdles during the preliminaries held at Walnut Ridge. Pusey qualified in the 880 yard run, setting a new Logan Elm school record of 2:08.6.

Logan Elm's mile relay team also qualified. Members of the team are Fox, Jones, Roby and Schwalbach.

Houston Astros Rack Philadelphia, 9-7, In NL Action

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer The pitching mound isn't the only thing lower for most of the hurlers who helped make 1968 the Year of the Zero in major league baseball. Their records also show quite a drop.

Of the top 10 pitchers in each league a year ago, only Juan Marichal of San Francisco and Oakland's Jim Nash show an appreciably better earned run average and some ERAs are astronomical.

Houston and Philadelphia wrecked more hitting havoc Thursday, with the Astros winning a 9-7 come-from-behind slugfest in the only scheduled game in either league.

They rallied for three runs in the eighth inning, and three more in the ninth, wiping out a 7-3 Philadelphia lead and ruining a banner performance by Rich Allen, who walloped a towering grand slam homer and singled in another run.

Houston fell behind despite a 3-0 lead on Joe Morgan's leadoff homer and a two-run shot by Jim Wynn in the third. But they closed in when Jesus Alou cracked a two-run double and Gary Geiger hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth. Norm Miller began the decisive ninth against reliever Gary Wagner with a single and walks to Curt Blefary and Doug Rader loaded the bases with two out. Alou's infield single tied the score and John Edwards drilled a single to right to win it.

"It's taken us a while to get in with one another and to get a little confidence," said manager Harry Walker, whose Astros have won six of their last seven games. "We started off bad and then we started to press."

"I think we'll be all right. We've got three hard throwers in Larry Dierker, Don Wilson and Tom Griffin. If they continue to improve we can be tough."

The pitchers on the other 22 teams had Thursday off to contemplate their woes. For example: Cleveland's Luis Tiant, a 21-game winner and the American League's ERA leader at 1.60, shows an 0-6 record and 8.29 ERA. Teammate Sam McDowell's ERA is up from 1.81 to 3.23 and it took two consecutive shutouts to get it that respectable.

Baltimore's Dave McNally has a 5-0 mark but his ERA is up from 1.95 to 2.70. Denny McLain, Detroit's 31-game winner, is at 4-3 and 2.82, compared to 1.96 in 1968.

Tommy John of the Chicago White Sox is up from 1.98 to 2.66. Stan Bahsen of the New York Yankees—0-6 like Tiant—from 2.06 to 5.50. Joe Horlen of the White Sox from 2.37 to 3.60 and New York's Mel Stottlemyre and Oakland's John "Blue Moon" Odom from 2.45 to 2.64 and 2.84, respectively.

Nash, however, is down from 2.28 to 1.86 with a 3-1 record. Over in the National League, Bob Gibson of St. Louis has a superb 1.94 ERA, but it was a record-setting 1.12 last season when he spun 13 shutouts.

San Francisco's Bob Bolin is up from 1.98 to 4.75. Pittsburgh's Bob Veale from 2.06 to 3.82. Jerry Koosman of the New York Mets from 2.08 to 3.57 and Steve Blass of the Pirates from 2.13 to 6.82.

Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, author of a record 53 consecutive scoreless innings last year, has soared from 2.15 to 5.85 and has a sore arm, as well. Tom Seaver of the Mets and Ray Washburn of the Cardinals are virtually the same, 2.20 to 2.28 for Seaver and 2.26 to 2.50 for Washburn.

But Gaylor Perry of the Giants has jumped from 2.44 to 3.12. Marichal, who won 26 games last year, has a 4-2 record and his ERA is 1.98, compared to last season's 2.43.

The people doing the hitting also have some strange names. The leading batters include Coco Laboy of Montreal, Chuck Harrison of Kansas City, Mike Hegan of Seattle and Bobby Murcer of the Yankees, none of whom was in the majors a year ago.

Danny Cater and Rick Monday of Oakland and Tony Oliva and Ted Uhlaender of Minnesota are hitting better but Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, the AL's batting champion, is mired at .230. Detroit's Willie Horton at .230, Detroit's Willie Horton at .230, Detroit's Willie Horton at .230.

At .149, Oakland's Bert Campaneris at .174 and Cleveland's mod swinger, Ken Harrelson, is at .181.

The averages of Pittsburgh's Matty Alou, Atlanta's Felipe Alou, Cincinnati's Alex Johnson, New York's Cleon Jones and Montreal's Rusty Staub all show improvement, while the Giants' Willie McCovey is at 1968's .293 mark.

But defending bat champ Pete Rose of the Reds is down from .335 to .287. Curt Flood of the Cards from .301 to .259. Glen Beckert of the Cubs from .294 to .252 and Roberto Clemente of the Pirates from .291 to .242.

The current leaders are Minnesota's Rod Carew at .355 after a .273 season in 1968 and Jones of the Mets, up from .297 to .394.

LAKE LOGAN — Clear and normal, very good catches of bass reported as well as northern pike and bluegill. Outlook for weekend very good.

SOUTHWESTERN OHIO — All streams and lakes report good fishing with a good forecast for the coming weekend.

ROCKY FORK LAKE — Water normal, catching crappies from boats and shore. Large channel catfish are being taken in the channels where the creek enters the lake.

LAKE LORAMIE — Clear and normal, taking crappies in the channels from the shore.

LAKE ST. MARYS — Water normal, slightly roily, taking crappies with minnows and small spinners. Large channel catfish also being taken.

STONECLICK LAKE — Clear and normal, crappies are being taken from the shore and boats, largemouth bass being taken in the shallow water along the shoreline.

PORTAGE LAKES — Clear and normal, fairly good catches of bass and other panfish using minnows, worms and artificial baits.

SOUTHEASTERN OHIO — Water clear and normal, excellent catches of smallmouth and largemouth bass, also crappies and few muskies.

DILLON RESERVOIR — Clear and normal, catching a few bass, bluegill, crappies and bullheads.

BURR OAK LAKE — Water clear and normal, fishing excellent on bass, bluegill and bullhead at the upper end of the lake. Outlook for coming week-

LOST CREEK RESERVOIR — Good catches of crappies. Ferguson, Metzger and Lima Reservoirs are taking yellow perch, bluegill and a few walleyes.

SANDUSKY RIVER — Catching a few walleye and increasing numbers of white bass from the Fremont area below Ballville Dam.

NETTLE LAKE — Reported good catches of largemouth bass and crappies.

Neil Castles Gets Chance For Win In Rebel 400 Race

By BLOYS BRITT AP Auto Racing Writer DARTINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Neil Castles, at 34 a veteran of 16 years in stock car racing, gets his big chance for a major victory in Saturday's $63,000 Rebel 400, but isn't sure he'll be able to meet the challenge.

Castles was assigned his first ride in top grade machinery a week ago when Buddy Baker quit the Ray Fox Dodge Charger and moved to another factory machine maintained by Cotton Owens.

"Somebody up there was looking after me," said Castles, "when Fox and the Dodge people picked me as their driver. They have given me the chance. I know I must produce. I must win, maybe not in this first race but soon, if I expect to keep the ride."

Castles has spent two days trying to adjust to the car, consistently one of the fastest on the NASCAR circuit. He admits the adjustment from slow to fast machinery is harder than he had thought it would be.

"It is like switching from a go cart to a sprinter," the lanky veteran said, "and I still haven't gotten the hang of it."

After being bumped from the field on the first day of time trials Wednesday because of a comparatively slow lap of 146.727 miles per hour lap, Castles came back Thursday to nail down 11th spot in the 36-car field.

His lap speed was 144.732 m.p.h., two miles slower than his best of the previous day.

"Of course, I would have liked to have gone faster," he said. "The car is strong enough to be on the pole."

"But I have never had the opportunity to qualify a fast car, and maybe I simply don't know how."

"However, I believe I can drive the car as fast in the race as I have in time trials, and if I can stay out of trouble I can win."

Jerry West Picks Star: Lew Alcindor

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Alcindor can't miss making it big in the National Basketball Association, says Jerry West.

"I think he's going to be the most valuable player in the league," said the superstar of the Los Angeles Lakers today.

Here to receive a car as the outstanding player of the recent NBA final playoff series between the Lakers and the winning Boston Celtics, West was asked whom he would pick first if he had to select a pro team today.

"Lew Alcindor," he replied without hesitation.

Pile Of Bills Filed To Honor Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is considering a growing pile of bills to memorialize Dwight D. Eisenhower. Proposals range from naming the first moon landing site in his honor to putting his picture on the dollar bill in place of George Washington's.

Legislation to honor the World War II commander and 34th president who died March 28 are stacked in Capitol Hill hop-pers with 25 bills introduced in the House alone. All are still in committee.

Some call for naming a dam after Eisenhower as well as two airports, the interstate highway system and the moon landing site.

Eisenhower's family says it has no favorite among the plans.

"We've been very honored by all the proposals," said his son, John, by telephone from his Phoenixville, Pa., home.

"I don't think it's up to us to recommend anything. I can't see a hunk of marble somewhere, though."

Eisenhower seldom publicly discussed his wishes on memorials.

"That would be the last thing

Dad would ever talk about," John said.

But in a speech at the dedication of Eisenhower Park in Newport, R.I., July 22, 1960, President Eisenhower told the crowd: "I am deeply touched by this kind of gracious incident and thought for the simple reason that a name given to a place like this endures."

Another of his favorite namesakes was Eisenhower College at Seneca Falls, N.Y., which enrolled the charter freshman class of 300 last fall. In the announcement of his death, Eisenhower's family suggested donations to the college, among other charities, instead of flowers.

The bill to name the first U.S. moon landing site "Point Eisenhower" was introduced by Rep. William G. Bray, R-Ind.

One of the first suggestions for honoring Eisenhower stirred a brief partisan political flurry.

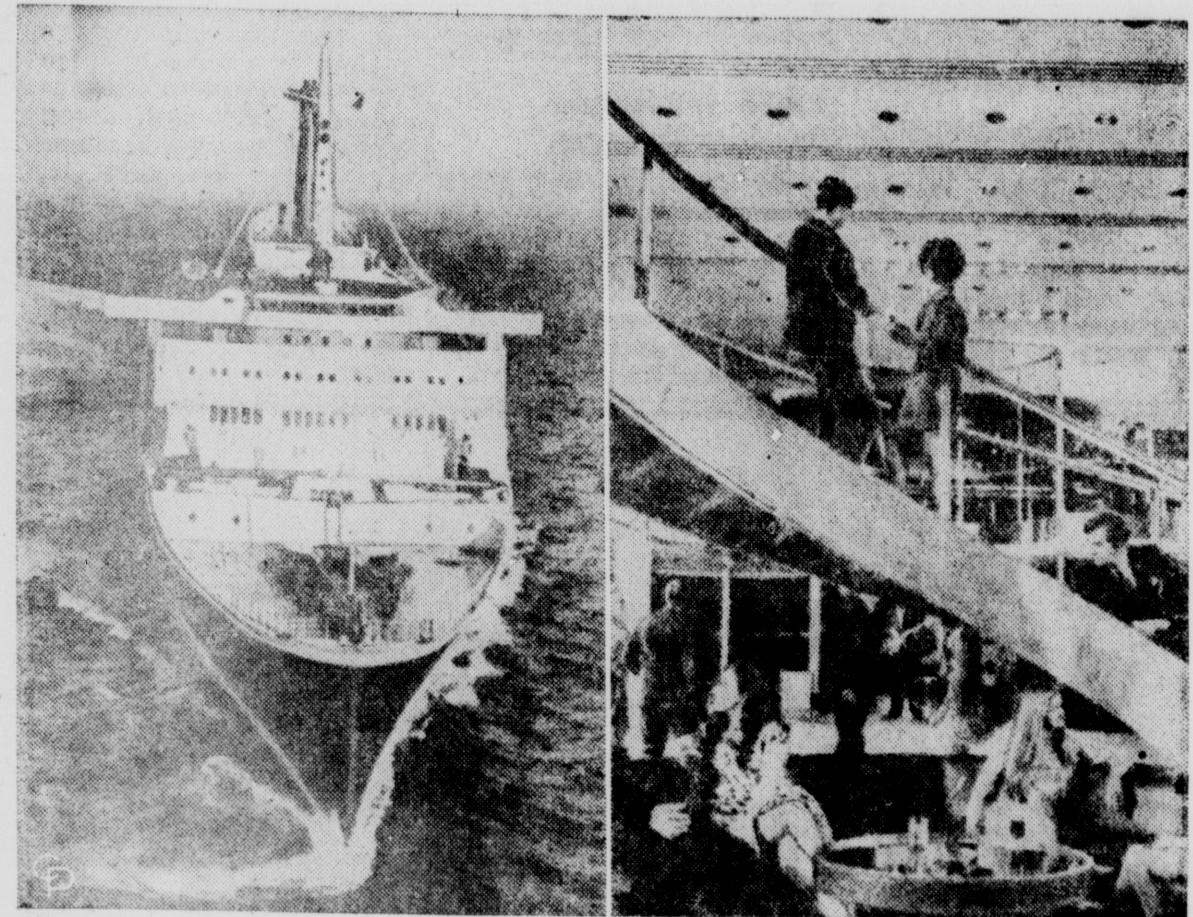

Thirteen House Republicans proposed renaming the city's sports stadium after Eisenhower. The stadium was named for assassinated Democratic Sen. Robert F. Kennedy by the D.C. Armory Commission. Eleven Democrats responded with legislation to make the Kennedy name permanent.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, has 62 cosponsors for his proposal to change the name of the Glen Canyon Dam on the Colorado River.

Five House bills would change the name of the interstate highway system, which, like the dam, was started under Eisenhower's administration.

Congressmen have also proposed naming the Pentagon, Washington National Airport and a new indoor sports arena on the Potomac River after Eisenhower.

There are numerous proposals to issue an Eisenhower commemorative postage stamp.

Highlights in World of Sports

NEW YORK (AP) — Normal operations resumed today at the Aqueduct race track after settlement of a pension dispute which led to a nine-day shutdown at the nation's largest thoroughbred plant.

Members of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association voted Thursday to end their boycott in compliance with a temporary restraining order obtained by the State Attorney General. A hearing on a permanent injunction sought by Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz will be held Tuesday.

MONTREAL (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds go against expansion Montreal tonight for the first time this season beginning a three-game series which extends through Sunday.

Expos' starting pitcher Jim Grant, 1-2, faces Cincinnati's Tony Cloninger who has picked up only one victory in five decisions.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have the worst record in baseball with only four victories in 23 games, but General Manager Gabe Paul isn't ready to call on the Tribe's farmhands for help.

"The kids in our minor league system will progress better if they're left where they are," Paul said Thursday after another strategy meeting with Manager Alvin Dark. "It would only hurt them to bring them up too soon."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Max Bush jumped to an early lead and never was threatened in winning the feature race Thursday at Beulah Park.

The winner paid $11.40, $5.5 and $3.80, while Mt. Up, which ran second, brought $5.20 and $3.20. Negressa showed for $3.80.

The 10-3 daily double combination of Forever Bim and Liberated paid $30.40.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Jim Westcott, a 26-year-old native of Dover, N.H., will become track coach at North Carolina State University on July 1.

Westcott, an assistant coach for the last three years, will succeed Paul Derr, who is retiring after having directed the Wolfpack's track program since 1951.

NEW YORK (AP) — Nino Benvenuti, the world middleweight boxing champion, arrived Thursday from Italy to finish up training for his nontitle 10-rounder against Dick Tiger May 26 at Madison Square Garden.

MOON BEAMED — The Apollo 10's Saturn 5 rocket sits vaporously on its launch pad at Cape Kennedy, waiting for the May 18 launch to the Moon. Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan are to go through the last maneuvers preparing the way for the actual man landing in July.

Ohio Firm Faces Suit

CHICAGO (AP) — Asserting that Defiance Industries, Inc., has been violating Illinois law for several years, Atty. Gen. William J. Scott Thursday asked Circuit Court to force the Ohio company to give up controlling stock interest in two Chicago banks.

The banks are the Guaranty Bank and Trust Co. and the Mercantile National Bank.

Defiance Industries is a holding company headquartered in Defiance, Ohio.

The suit said Illinois law forbids any company to hold more than 15 per cent of the voting shares of two or more Illinois banks.

Scott said that since 1966 Defiance Industries has owned more than 60 per cent of the Guaranty and more than 19 per cent of the Mercantile.

NHL Names All-Stars; Hall Is 1st

NEW YORK (AP) — Goalie Glenn Hall of the St. Louis Blues today became the first player in the National Hockey League's expansionist West Division to be named to the league's annual All-Star team.

Hall was named to the NHL's first All-Star team for a record 11th time in balloting by three members of the National Hockey League Writers Association in each of the 12 league cities.

Orr came closest to being a unanimous choice, getting 176 of a possible 180 points. Hull had 175, Esposito and Howe 174 each and Horton 123.

Selection to the first team carries with it a $2,000 bonus from the league while second-team members receive $1,000 each.

Draft Resister Nabbed By FBI On U.S. Border

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Therin E. Glasky, 21, of Geneva, Ohio, was arrested by FBI agents Thursday as he reentered the United States from Canada. He was charged with violation of the Selective Service Act.

Neil J. Welch, special agent in charge of the Buffalo FBI office, said Glasky was taken into custody on the Rainbow Bridge.

Glasky, described as a former University of Michigan student, was charged specifically with failing to keep his local draft board advised of his current address.

He was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Edmund F. Maxwell in Buffalo and sent to the Erie County Jail in lieu of $500 bail. Maxwell scheduled a hearing for May 13.

Several fistfights and egg-throwing incidents broke out Thursday during the traditional president's review of the ROTC Corps at Ohio State University.

No one was reported hurt seriously as supporters of the military program and the dissenting Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) mixed it up outside Mershon Auditorium.

The program was held inside the auditorium because of rain, and it had no interference as campus police and Ohio Highway Patrol officers stood by.

The fights were broken up by police.

New Track Book Out For Editors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Curry, the well known track and field buff from the Youngstown Vindicator, has done it again.

Curry came out this week with a revised edition of the masterful track booklet he prepared four years ago. It's a must for sports writers who cover the state's high school runners and jumpers.

Rozelle May Move On League Shift Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle has moved to within 24 hours of running with the realignment ball himself and personally selecting the three National Football League teams that have to switch to the American Football League.

Rozelle made that revelation himself at the end of an 11-hour day of talks with both NFL and AFL club owners Thursday in yet another session of the marathon pro football meetings that now have lasted almost two months and been held on both coasts of the United States.

Mud Hens Acquire 2 New Pitchers

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Toledo Mud Hens of the International League announced Thursday night acquisition of two pitchers, Bob Lasko and Hollie Sheldon, from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League.

The two right-handers were purchased outright. Price was not disclosed.

Lasko was with Syracuse of the IL last season and had an 8-7 record and a 2.93 earned run average. Sheldon was with Indianapolis and Seattle, both Pacific Coast League clubs, last year, and was 9-9 with a 3.43 ERA.

New Track Book Out For Editors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Curry, the well known track and field buff from the Youngstown Vindicator, has done it again.

Curry came out this week with a revised edition of the masterful track booklet he prepared four years ago. It's a must for sports writers who cover the state's high school runners and jumpers.

Draft Resister Nabbed By FBI On U.S. Border

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Therin E. Glasky, 21, of Geneva, Ohio, was arrested by FBI agents Thursday as he reentered the United States from Canada. He was charged with violation of the Selective Service Act.

Neil J. Welch, special agent in charge of the Buffalo FBI office, said Glasky was taken into custody on the Rainbow Bridge.

Glasky, described as a former University of Michigan student, was charged specifically with failing to keep his local draft board advised of his current address.

He was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Edmund F. Maxwell in Buffalo and sent to the Erie County Jail in lieu of $500 bail. Maxwell scheduled a hearing for May 13.

NHL Names All-Stars; Hall Is 1st

NEW YORK (AP) — Goalie Glenn Hall of the St. Louis Blues today became the first player in the National Hockey League's expansionist West Division to be named to the league's annual All-Star team.

Hall was named to the NHL's first All-Star team for a record 11th time in balloting by three members of the National Hockey League Writers Association in each of the 12 league cities.

The veteran goalie, who shared the Vezina Trophy for fewest goals allowed with teammates Jacques Plante, polled 115 points, 13 more than Ed Giguere of New York, in the closest race in the voting.

Orr came closest to being a unanimous choice, getting 176 of a possible 180 points. Hull had 175, Esposito and Howe 174 each and Horton 123.

Three Montreal players, center Jean Beliveau, right wing Yvan Cournoyer and defenseman Ted Harris, were picked for the second team along with Giacomin, defenseman Ted Green of Boston and left wing Frank Mahovlich of Detroit.

Selection to the first team carries with it a $2,000 bonus from the league while second-team members receive $1,000 each.

Pile Of Bills Filed To Honor Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is considering a growing pile of bills to memorialize Dwight D. Eisenhower. Proposals range from naming the first moon landing site in his honor to putting his picture on the dollar bill in place of George Washington's.

Legislation to honor the World War II commander and 34th president who died March 28

Highlights in World of Sports

NEW YORK (AP) — Normal operations resumed today at the Aqueduct race track after settlement of a pension dispute which led to a nine-day shutdown at the nation's largest thoroughbred plant.

Members of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association voted Thursday to end their boycott in compliance with a temporary restraining order obtained by the State Attorney General. A hearing on a permanent injunction sought by Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz will be held Tuesday.

MONTREAL (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds go against expansion Montreal tonight for the first time this season beginning a three-game series which extends through Sunday.

Expos' starting pitcher Jim Grant, 1-2, faces Cincinnati's Tony Cloninger who has picked up only one victory in five decisions.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have the worst record in baseball with only four victories in 23 games, but General Manager Gabe Paul isn't ready to call on the Tribe's farmhands for help.

"The kids in our minor league system will progress better if they're left where they are," Paul said Thursday after another strategy meeting with Manager Alvin Dark. "It would only hurt them to bring them up too soon."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Max Bush jumped to an early lead and never was threatened in winning the feature race Thursday at Beulah Park.

The winner paid $11.40, $5.5 and $3.30, while Mt. Up, which ran second, brought $5.20 and $3.30. Negressa showed for $3.80.

The 10-3 daily double combination of Forever Bim and Liberated paid $30.40.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Jim Westcott, a 26-year-old native of Dover, N.H., will become track coach at North Carolina State University on July 1.

Westcott, an assistant coach for the last three years, will succeed Paul Derr, who is retiring after having directed the Wolfpack's track program since 1951.

NEW YORK (AP) — Nino Benvenuti, the world middleweight boxing champion, arrived Thursday from Italy to finish up training for his nontitle 10-rounder against Dick Tiger May 26 at Madison Square Garden.

MOON BEAMED — The Apollo 10's Saturn 5 rocket sits vaporously on its launch pad at Cape Kennedy, waiting for the May 18 launch to the Moon. Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan are to go through the last maneuvers preparing the way for the actual man landing in July.

"We've been very honored by all the proposals," said his son, John, by telephone from his Phoenixville, Pa., home.

"I don't think it's up to us to recommend anything. I can't see a hunk of marble somewhere, though."

Eisenhower seldom publicly discussed his wishes on memorials.

"That would be the last thing

Dad would ever talk about," John said.

But in a speech at the dedication of Eisenhower Park in Newport, R.I., July 22, 1960, President Eisenhower told the crowd: "I am deeply touched by this kind of gracious incident and thought for the simple reason that a name given to a place like this endures."

Another of his favorite namesakes was Eisenhower College at Seneca Falls, N.Y., which enrolled the charter freshman class of 300 last fall. In the announcement of his death, Eisenhower's family suggested donations to the college, among other charities, instead of flowers.

The bill to name the first U.S. moon landing site "Point Eisenhower" was introduced by Rep. William G. Bray, R-Ind.

One of the first suggestions for honoring Eisenhower stirred a brief partisan political flurry.

Thirteen House Republicans proposed renaming the city's sports stadium after Eisenhower. The stadium was named for assassinated Democratic Sen. Robert F. Kennedy by the D.C. Armory Commission. Eleven Democrats responded with legislation to make the Kennedy name permanent.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, has 62 cosponsors for his proposal to change the name of the Glen Canyon Dam on the Colorado River.

Five House bills would change the name of the interstate highway system, which, like the dam, was started under Eisenhower's administration.

Congressmen have also proposed naming the Pentagon, Washington National Airport and a new indoor sports arena on the Potomac River after Eisenhower.

There are numerous proposals to issue an Eisenhower commemorative postage stamp.

Ohio Firm Faces Suit

CHICAGO (AP) — Asserting that Defiance Industries, Inc., has been violating Illinois law for several years, Atty. Gen. William J. Scott Thursday asked Circuit Court to force the Ohio company to give up controlling stock interest in two Chicago banks.

The banks are the Guaranty Bank and Trust Co. and the Mercantile National Bank.

Defiance Industries is a holding company headquartered in Defiance, Ohio.

The suit said Illinois law forbids any company to hold more than 15 per cent of the voting shares of two or more Illinois banks.

Scott said that since 1966 Defiance Industries has owned more than 60 per cent of the Guaranty and more than 19 per cent of the Mercantile.

Fistfights Mark ROTC Review

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Several fistfights and egg-throwing incidents broke out Thursday during the traditional president's review of the ROTC Corps at Ohio State University.

No one was reported hurt seriously as supporters of the military program and the dissenting Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) mixed it up outside Mershon Auditorium.

The program was held inside the auditorium because of rain, and it had no interference as campus police and Ohio Highway Patrol officers stood by.

The fights were broken up by police.

Mud Hens Acquire 2 New Pitchers

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Toledo Mud Hens of the International League announced Thursday night acquisition of two pitchers, Bob Lasko and Rollie Sheldon, from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League.

The two righthanders were purchased outright. Price was not disclosed.

Lasko was with Syracuse of the IL last season and had an 8-7 record and a 2.93 earned run average. Sheldon was with Indianapolis and Seattle, both Pacific Coast League clubs, last year, and was 9-9 with a 3.43 ERA.

Rozelle May Move On League Shift Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle has moved to within 24 hours of running with the realignment ball himself and personally selecting the three National Football League teams that have to switch to the American Football League.

Rozelle made that revelation himself at the end of an 11-hour day of talks with both NFL and AFL club owners Thursday in yet another session of the marathon pro football meetings that now have lasted almost two months and been held on both coasts of the United States.

Youth Baseball Starts Annual Candy Drive

The annual candy sale of the Circleville Youth Baseball Program Inc. is under way. It was announced today by Terry Sloan, president of the organization.

Youngsters who participate in the summer baseball program will be making a door-to-door canvass, selling the candy.

It is the only fund raising activity in which the youngsters have a part.

The Circleville Youth Baseball Program Inc. is an independent organization, relying on volunteer help to run the program.

AN estimated one-third of the financial needs of the program will be supplied through the annual candy sale.

The Youth baseball program provides supervised recreation for nearly 500 boys at no cost to youth. It is one of the few free summer baseball programs in the state.

The local organization provides uniforms and equipment. The only thing a participant needs are his shoes and a ball glove.

Youngsters are to receive their candy from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. Bob Wood, Dale Diltz and Richard Hartinger are in charge of the program.

Charges Dropped On Motorcyclist

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A first-degree murder charge against the last of nine motorcyclists charged with the shooting deaths of two men in an East Side bar early last year has been dropped.

Ronald "Doc" Edwards, 24, of Richmond Heights, was released from the Cuyahoga County Jail after the charge was dropped Thursday.

College, Political Leaders Discuss Democracy In U.S.

GAMBIER, Ohio (AP) — A group of leaders in education, politics, government, journalism and racial equality are sitting in closed sessions here to expound their views on "How Democratic is America?"

There will be no attempt to reach a consensus in the sessions being held through Sunday. What will come out of the meetings is the publishing of a series of papers in a book.

Kenyon College officials said the views expressed "will run the gamut from the political left to the political right, concerning Democratic America."

During the academic year, leading up to the closed sessions, Kenyon College's Public Affairs Conference Center has carried on a study of the topic with students enrolled in a political science seminar.

The views for the book will be edited by Robert A. Goldwin, Kenyon College professor of political science.

Among those participating in the conference are Charles F. Kurfess, speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives; David Broder, political correspondent for The Washington Post; Joseph A. Califano Jr., former special assistant to President Johnson; Robert Eckhardt, Texas congressman; Roy Innis, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE); Samuel Lubell, journalist and political analyst; Robert Novak, syndicated political columnist; U. S. Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois; State Sen. Ralph Regula; President William G. Caples of Kenyon College and a number of political science professors from universities such as Harvard, Cornell, New York, California and Boston.
